Little Calm in Riots in Cleveland, New York

Kellett Group's Plans May be Ready by Fall

Method of Selecting Administrators Is Stumbling Block

MADISON (AP) — Final blueprints for shuffling the structure of state government and reducing the number of state agencies from 85 to 13 may be drawn up by September.

A temporary reorganization committee, sifting through the maze of agencies, was stymied in attempts to wind up its task when it could not agree Friday on how to pick administrators to operate the system.

William R. Kellett, the retired paper executive from Menasha who heads the committee as well as two other independent advisory groups in state government, told the members they would meet again Sept. 7.

Semi-Cabinet Form

Kellett said the draft of the committee's final report might be ready then.

A subcommittee was told to work out the language of the selection plan.

The committee has already decided on a semi-cabinet form of state government with the governor appointing secretaries to head various departments.

The stumbling block Friday concerned picking the administrators who would head the operating divisions in each department.

Committee members argued that rigid procedures and the protective provisions of classified civil service would freeze bureaucrats in the jobs and make them so independent that they would not be answerable to the governor and his cabinet.

On the other hand, a program of letting the secretaries appoint their administrators from outside would be subject to political influence, would discourage careers in government leadership, and would mean instability and lack of continuity on the job, he members said.

Ducking Problem

H. Rupert Theobald, who is chief of the Leislative Reference Bureau, called for a one-year probationary period and a review of administrators' work at the end of each five years.

However, the proposal wound up without ever saying specifically how the men should be picked.

"I think we're ducking the problem," said Kellett. He told the subcommittee, under Theobald's leadership, to try to find a solution.

Clothing Worth Several Thousand Dollars Taken in Eagle River

EAGLE RIVER (AP)—Men's garments valued at several thousand dollars were discovered missing from clothing stores in Eagle River and Minocqua.

Sheriff John Scott of Vilas County said the clothing apparently was taken late Thursday.

But the theft was reportedly undetected at Minocqua until a routine inventory was underway, and was not discovered at the Eagle River store until the Minocqua store telephoned, Scott said.

Red China Vows to Back N. Viet Nam

Leaders Tell Huge Rally Only End to War Is Communist Victory

TOKYO (AP) — Red China's leaders spelled out in harsh words at a mammoth Peking rally Friday the only end they see to the war in Viet Nam — totai Communist victory, possibly with Chinese intervention.

Speaking to a throng estimated by Japanese correspondents on the scene at nearly one million, President Liu Shao-chi declared:

"To fight on, to fight through to the end, to fight until the U.S. aggressors are totally and completely driven out of Viet Nam and final victory is won — this is the powerful answer of the Vietnamese people to the U.S. imperialist act of escalating its war of aggression to a new and still graver stage."

Combined Blows

Asserting that "aggression against Viet Nam is aggression against China," Liu said "the Chinese people have made up their minds and have made every preparation to take such actions at any time and in any place as the Chinese and Vietnamese people deem necessary for dealing joint blows at the U.S. aggressors."

Some observers said the statement appeared to go a step further than previous declarations of spport by China. In thue past, it had been stressed that China would act if asked to do so by Hanoi.

Liu and the other speakers, according to Radio Peking broadcasts heard here, made clear that even a halt in U.S bombing of North Viet Nam would not draw the Communists to the conference table — as far as Peking is concerned

Criminal Action

Reconvening of the Geneva conference was completely ruled out as an "out-and-out criminal action"

Peace efforts by British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi in recent trips to Moscow were denounced — as well as the Soviet leaders.

Peking also declared itself completely freed of all restrictions nd limitations imposed by the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina, and said the agreements "are already nonexistent."

Liu said, "We must warn the U.S. aggressors in all seriousness: do not miscalculate and do not misjudge your opponents."

He said China was "ready to undertake the greatest national sacrifices" and no longer was restricted by the demarcation line between North and South Viet Nam in giving aid to the Vietnamese people.

"The 700 million Chinese people provide a powerful backing for the Vietnamese people," he declared. "The vast expanse of China's territory is the reliable rear area of the Vietnamese people."

Four Negroes Wounded In Brooklyn

NEW YORK (AP) — Gunfire from a moving auto carrying four Negroes wounded two white men at 2 a.m. today in the racially seething East New York slum area of Brooklyn, police reported.

The shots were fired as the two men stood at a street corner in a section where 1,700 police reported on the streets or held in reserve.

Frank Tuledo, 24, was shot in the abdomen and was reported in critical condition in a hospital.

Gregorio Cruz, 35, was shot in the right buttock and was reported in fair condition at the same hospital.

Scattered Disorders

Scattered disorders broke out through the early morning. Several policemen were injured and 15 persons were arrested on various charges.

The gunfire erupted three hours after police broke up a crowd of 45 Negro youths charging toward a predominantly Italian-American section of East New York and chanting "Get the whites."

Police in five radio cars closed in on the gang of youths — aged 17 to 25 — and chased them back toward the Negro section of East New York and adjoining Brownsville.

Police said knives and clubs were taken from some of the youths. Eight of them were arrested.

Gang Broken Up

There has been racial disorder in East New York almost nightly for a week — the worst in the city since the Negro riots

Philippine Reds Getting 'Massive' Aid From Outside

MANILA (AP)—More than 500 Communist terrorists in central Luzon are getting "massive help" in arms and equipment from unknown sources, Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos said today.

Marcos told The Associated Press the weapons include American-made automatic rifles which were "stolen or purchased" illegally from U.S. bases in the Philippines.

Marcos, who earlier this week ordered 3,000 troops into the four central Luzon provinces to flush out a band of guerrillas who killed six people in the past few days, said the Communist threat was "now quite apparent within the Philippines."

'Fast and Furious Action'

U.S. Infantrymen Overrun Viet Cong North of Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Helicopter-borne U.S. infantrymen pounded an entrenched Viet Cong force only 25 miles from Saigon today and overran the enemy bunkers in what a spokesman called "fast and furious action."

To the north, U.S. Marines fighting in mountain jungles just south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam reported killing 55 more North Vietnamese regulars to raise the number of enemy dead to 576 in eight days of hard fighting.

Over North Viet Nam, U.S. Air Force Thunderchiefs tangled with Communist MIG-17s in a fruitless one-minute exchange of fire during renewed raids on oil depots, railroads, barges and bridges.

Australian Operation

The U.S. command announced that Australian troops had kicked off on a new clearing operation 38 miles southeast of Saigon and that the first small contingent of Thailand servicemen has arrived in the country.

The U.S. command also reported that a Navy A4 Skyhawk fighter-bomber from the carrier Oriskany was shot down over North Viet Nam today, the 306th plane lost in the air war over the north. The pilot bailed out at sea and was rescued about 35 miles north of Vinh.

U.S. spokesmen disclosed the loss in South Viet Nam of an L19 light observation plane about 100 miles southwest of Saigon and said both members of the two-man crew were killed.

In the fighting 25 miles north of Saigon, several battalions of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division struck this afternoon against a dug-in Viet Cong force in the Ong Dong jungles.

The infantrymen, lifted into the area by helicopters, overran enemy bunkers almost at once.

A spokesman said American casualties in the initial stages were light. He said the Communist losses were not yet reported but the infantrymen captured quantities of machine guns and ammunition.

At last report toward dark, the GIs were still in contact with the Viet Cong.

Fighting kept up also along the northern border where the Marines were tracking down the North Vietnamese 324th Division in jungle-covered mountains.

The Marines reported scattered contact with the North Vietnamese. In the largest of these, they fought a five-hour action and killed 25 Communists.

Although the official enemy death toll from Operation Hastings is considerably lower, the Marines estimated the Communist dead at more than 1,000 and said they have scattered the North Vietnamese division.

Scattered Contact

The Marines took moderate casualties in the Friday night action, the spokesman said. But over-all U.S. casualties have been described as light.

Intelligence reports said the commander of the North Vietnamese Division is a political commissar named Gen. Nguyen Uang.

Airline Strike Talks Remain Deadlocked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline strike talks remained earthbound today. As the 16-day walkout piled up multimillion-dollar losses in wages and profits, negotiators could agree only that "It's a sad day."

Federal efforts to win a settlement and a proposal in Congress for the government to take over the five strikebound airlines did nothing to soften the deadlock. Negotiations resumed at midmorning.

Sen. Fulbright Launches New Attack on LBJ

White House Gives Tart Reply to Policy Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J.W. Fulbright has launched a new attack on the administration's Asian policy—and received a tart reply from the White House which reported President Johnson was "disappointed" in the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Inconsistent, disappointing and difficult to follow was the way White House press secretary Bill Moyers described Fulbright's argument in a renewal of the Fulbright-Johnson dispute over American commitments to Asia.

The latest exchange was triggered when Fulbright told the Senate Friday that statements by Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey revealed an "emerging 'Asian Doctrine' " under which "the United States is taking on the role of policeman and provider for all of non-Communist Asia."

Rankled White House

In a remark that obviously rankled the White House, the Arkansas Democrat declared:

"I think it extremely important that the Senate, which used to be asked for its advice and consent on major foreign commitments, consider some of the sweeping implications of the 'Asian Doctrine' before it becomes an irrevocable national commitment undertaken without the consent or even the knowledge of the Senate."

As a possible measure of Johnson's irritation, the White House response to Fulbright was one of the longest and strongest yet made to a member of Congress.

The President, said Moyers, "is disappointed that Sen. Fulbright's speech made allega-

Long Plans Drug Price Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long said today he is planning a public inquiry into drug prices and federal health programs.

When it comes, the Louisiana Democrat said, "people are going to be finding out that they're paying 400 times too much for some of their drugs."

Long's forum will be the Senate Finance Committee; his topic, prescription practices under medicare and federally aided health programs.

Long, assistant Democratic leader, has introduced a bill that would require the prescribing and dispensing of medicare drugs under their chemical, generic names, not under private brand names.

Long said that would reduce sharply the cost of medicine prescribed under the new program of medical care for the aged.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $272,614 loan to the Red Cliff Indian Reservation at Bayfield, Wis., to help construct 20 low-rent dwelings was announced Friday by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Motorist Critically Hurt by Shot

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A shot fired from a moving car wounded a Negro motorist critically early today in guerrilla rioting that has wracked Cleveland's East Side Negro area for five nights.

Until the shooting about 3 a.m., police and National Gardsmen had kept relative calm in areas hit by fire bombing, shooting and vandalism since Monday night.

Shots were fired from the passenger-side window of a car carrying two white youths, police said. Six white youths were rounded up in pairs, within minutes, but police clamped a tight lid on information.

Father of Five

The man shot was identified as Benoris Toney, 29, a father of five. His wife said he was on the way to pick up a friend at work on the West Side.

He was the 10th victim of gunfire wounds in rioting that has taken three lives and caused heavy damage from fires and looting.

Toney was shot in a parking lot of a lumber company two miles outside the Hough (pronounced 'huff') area where most of the rioting has occurred and which police and 1,750 National Guardsmen have sealed off.

The victim's car was still moving after the shots were fired. Police hunting a sniper in the area were in the parking lot when Toney was shot and took off quickly after the gunman's car.

Heighten Fears

The shooting heightened fears that riot-weary Cleveland is headed into a bad weekend. The violence Friday night moved nearer to white ethnic pockets in predominantly Negro neighborhoods where racial fighting occurred in 1964.

Police said Toney was struck in the face by a shotgun blast and part of his face had been blown away.

The fifth night of disorder saw police and National Guardsmer

700 Guardsmen Still on Duty In Chicago Area

CHICAGO (AP) — Some 700 Illinois National Guardsmen remained in armories today ready to return to Chicago's West Side if necessary.

The area torn by rioting last week was quiet all this week.

It was decided to keep the troops on standby duty over the weekend in a meeting Friday between the guard and city police. They are the last of a contingent of 5,000 troops which moved into the Negro neighborhood last Friday following three nights of rioting in which two Negroes were shot to death.

In related action, work has begun on 140 "instant parks" in vacant lots on the West Side and other slum areas. The Chicago Committee on Urban Opportunity said the Office of Economic Opportunity had allotted $335,000 for the project. The committee said 235 teen-agers and adults have been hired to help convert the lots.

'One-in-a-Million' Rescue

U. S. Pilot Flees Red Prison

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Navy pilot, shot down over Communist territory more than six months ago, escaped from a prison camp and was rescued from the jungle after a "one-in-a-milion" sighting by another American flier, it was learned today.

The airman was reported suffering severe malnutrition and shock after his 23-day flight across some of the most difficult terrain in Asia.

Not Identified

The escape was disclosed by the U.S. military command, but spokesmen would give no details — in an effort, they said, to protect other prisoners who might be involved.

The rescued pilot was not identified for security reasons, but his next of kin have been notified, the U.S. command said.

An informed source said the escapee is a Navy lieutenant who had been held by the Communists for about five months.

He was spotted by an Air Force pilot last Wednesday or Thursday in the rugged jungle near the 17th Parallel demilitarized zone, which separates North and South Viet Nam.

Judging from the area of the rescue, the pilot may have been shot down over Laos. U.S. planes make daily sorties on the Ho Chi Minh trail through Laos to cut the flow of supplies to the Communists in South Viet Nam.

All the U.S. command would say was contained in this terse announcement:

Terse Announcement

"A U.S. Navy pilot who was held prisoner of war by the Communists has escaped and returned to our control in Viet Nam. His next of kin have been notified. The identity of the pilot and all additional details must be withheld at this time for security reasons."

It was learned, however, that after the pilot was sighted, an Air Force "Jolly Green Giant" helicopter was sent from Da Nang to lift him from the jungle. The pilot was flown to the hospital at the Da Nang air base and placed in complete isolation. He will remain under intensive care until he is strong enough to answer questions.

Still Very Weak

His condition was described as satisfactory, although he evidently is still very weak. He apparently survived in the jungle trek on a meager diet of roots and whatever edibles his survival training had taught him to look for.

The announcement did not give the location of the prison where the pilot had been held.

The Communists are known to have some small campus in the demilitarized zone. These are usually way stations where prisoners are held for indefinite periods until they are transferred to the north.

There have been several escapes from such camps and from similar ones in Laos, but they are rare. So far as is known, no one has managed a successful flight from the better guarded and more distant camps to the north.

World Hunger War

Freeman Asks Help Of Wisconsin Farmers

DELAVAN (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman urged farmers Friday to use their skills and technology in a world war on hunger.

Freeman, on a Midwestern tour through Indiana, Wisconsin, Iowa and North Dakota to review the Johnson Administration's farm policies, spoke in defense of his department's suggestion that a ban on shipment of wheat to Communist countries be lifted.

He told an audience of 1,000 southern Wisconsin farmers there is "a great challenge, responsibility, obligation and necessity" by farmers to wage war on hunger, "the greatest war in the world today."

International Exchange

International exchange of farm goods, he told the audience, helps the fight against hunger, "and you're a soldier in that war."

He said the nation has shipped medical supplies and other items to Communist nations in Eastern Europe, and that the government should be allowed to sell farm commodities as well.

In response to written questions submitted by dairy farmers in the audience, Freeman said he doubts proposed imports of "a specialized Cheddar cheese from Canada" would harm domestic price levels.

Canada, he said, buys $400 million in farm products from the United State annually and sells only half that amount in this contry.

Imports Opposed

He said farm cooperatives in Wisconsin and Minnesota had opposed the Canada cheese imports, but declined to identify them when asked.

He told the gathering in Delavan-Darien High School he was pleased to have raised dairy price supports higher than had any other agricultural secretary.

Martial Law

Mayor Ralph S Locher received requests from two Negro councilmen for martial law, a curfew and an increase in the Nationl Guard forces augmenting the city's 2,000 policemen.

The mayor said he expected increased lawlessness over the weekend, but had decided against martial law and a curfew, or a call for more guard

Locher said he was flexible on asking for more guardsmen, however, and Friday night he got a telegram from a group of eight Negro community leaders urging him to request them immediately.

In their first two nights of duty, the guardsmen had been spared much of the derision the Negro crowds directed at police Friday night the soldiers came in for a full share of taunting Within two hours after dark 18 persons — 15 of them juveniles — were arrested for harassing the Guard

Repeat Promise

A Negro woman screamed at the soldiers that they fired a shot into the air unnecessarily, and a young Guardsman shouted back: "And there will be a hell of a lot more shooting if you don't shut your mouth"

The Guard's commander, Col Robert Canterbury, repeated an earlier promise the soldiers would do no shooting unless fired upon. In that case, he said, they would not "shoot to miss"

tions about irrevocable national commitments the speech does not contain"

"Johnson Doctrine"

The speech in question was one Johnson delivered by telephone to the American Alumni Council at White Sulphur Springs, W Va, July 12

Fulbright quoted Johnson as declaring in the speech "the determination of the United States to meet our obligation in Asia as a Pacific power" Further, Fulbright singled out a television interview last April 19 in which he said Humphrey defined the Honolulu declaration resulting from Johnson's meeting with South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky as a "Johnson Doctrine" for Asia, with "great commitments"

New Opening

Fulbright said the vice president went on to say, "I think there is a tremendous new opening here for realizing the dream of the Great Society in the great area of Asia, not just here at home"

All this, said Fulbright, "must come as a big surprise to senators who have not even been informed of these sweeping commitments, much less asked for their advice and consent"

"One wonders," added Fulbright, "whether anyone ever thought of asking the Asians if they really want to join the Great Society"

Red Prisoners May be Traded For Red Pilots

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Navy Paul H Nitze says the United States is pondering "the future disposition" of 19 North Vietnamese sailors it is holding as prisoners

Nitze did not rule out the possibility of an exchange of the Communist seamen for captured U S airmen which Hanoi has threatened to try as war criminals But he added "I do not know the status of any exchange"

The North Vietnamese sailors were captured in June during a naval engagement in the Gulf of Tonkin Other Communist prisoners have been turned over to South Viet Nam but the seamen have remained in U S custody, prompting unofficial speculation about possible efforts for a prisoner exchange

The Negro gang was broken up about eight blocks from the scene of racial turmoil Thursday night, during which an 11-year-old Negro boy was killed by a sniper's bullet

Police feared violence Friday night from about 200 Negro and Puerto Rican youths at an East New York street corner But the youths suddenly ran into the street shouting, "We want peace! We're all brothers." They joined hands and walked together along the street, encouraged by bystanders who waved at them and clanged garbage can covers

Block Traffic

At 3 30 a m, today, police barred autos and pedestrians from a two-square block area because the streets and sidewalks were covered by debris hurled from windows and roofs

Police Commissioner Howard R Leary arrived in the East New York section shortly after midnight and cruised in a department car

Leary said there was no evidence that "outsiders" were in the area causing trouble Two Negro community leaders had said Friday that they had seen "agitators" who previously had been spotted in racial trouble spots in Chicago and Los Angeles.

Police Deployed

In addition to the heavy police reinforcements in East New York, an estimated 1,000 police were deployed as a precautionary measure to several other ghetto areas including Harlem the southeast Bronx and Brooklyn The police — many wearing plastic helmets — were on foot, in radio cars and on horseback

Your Problems

Mutual Respect Strengthens Parent, Child Relationships

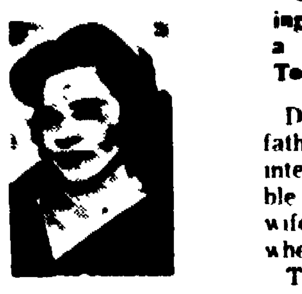
BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a teen-ager who wants to comment on that letter from "Mom" whose strong-willed daughter was dating a boy from the "wrong side of the tracks" as she put it. When "Mom" asked you what to do with "the stubborn brat" I knew right then that it was a hopeless case

Why don't parents realize that fighting with their kids never accomplished anything? It only makes kids more determined to have their own way There must be love and respect on both sides If parents want their children to respect them, they must respect their children Yelling, hitting and name-calling does not generate much respect from anybody.

Last year I dated a boy my folks didn't like very well They never told me I couldn't go with him They were polite and pleasant and pretty soon I understood why my folks didn't care much for the boy. I stopped going with him on my own

I hope you will write up this letter better so it will be good enough to print It's very important to us teen-agers to get our side represented Thank you — Normal



Landers

Dear Normal: I wouldn't change a word of your etter. It is fine just as you wrote it.

It is worth noting that children talk to their parents in the same way their parents talk to them — even the tone of voice is the same. Respect, consideration, and love is always a two-way proposition.

When we old fogies say it, it sounds squaresville but coming from a teen—well, that's a different bucket of bolts, Toots. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ANN: Why would the father of a fine family be so interested in civic and charitable causes that he neglects his wife and children to the point where they feel abandoned?

These men are rarely home because they are going to meetings almost every night Saturdays and Sundays are spent on outside activities Their own sons are virtually fatherless because these do-gooders are always doing good for someone else's children

I know several men who fit into this category They are admired by everyone (except their families) for their selfless dedication and service to humanity

By now you surely have guessed that I am married to such a man Perhaps if I understood why he is this way I could stop feeling sorry for myself Please help. — Excess Baggage

Dear Excess: Men (and women, too) who devote all their extra time and energy to outside activities, at the expense of family life, are actually running away from those closest to them because they are more comfortable with strangers. It's much easier to be a hero to non-relatives, you know.

Husbands and wives, fathers and sons, and mothers and daughters who work together on community and church projects enrich not only the community but their family's lives as well.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I read your column regularly and contribute this bit for those who make meat loaf

Save your empty No 2½ (or smaller) tinned fruit cans Remove paper wrapper and both ends of the can Save one end

Make sure the inside edge at both ends of the can is smooth Wash thoroughly

Stand cans on end on an aluminum pie plate or similar utensil and pack with your usual meat loaf mix Place them in your oven for the required time When done remove and let cool before slicing

Heloise

When the baked loaf is ready to be sliced the meat can be forced through the cylinder by using the can end you saved

It may be necessary to run the point of a knife around each end, between the loaf and the can, before pushing the meat out for slicing

If all the loaf is not used at one time, stand the container on end on a plate making sure the disc is on top Place in refrigerator until needed

Ralph O'Connell

While you are making the meat loaf, why not make the extra one for the freezer? The tiny fruit juice cans would make cute individual meat loaves

And if you want hot meat loaf, just take it out of the can and reheat it in the oven This would brown it a little and make it more attractive

Jehovah's Witnesses Seek Neutral Stand on All Wars

Beliefs Differ in Doctrines on Hell, Trinity and Immortality

Opposition to United States participation in the Viet Nam conflict is not unusual but few persons cite religion as the reason for their stand as do Jehovah's Witnesses

They say there are Christians all over the world and therefore a neutral stand is necessary in all conflicts

Only God has given life and only He can [illegible] it back, Robert Hurst presiding minister of the Appleton congregation said in an interview recently

Any war is unimportant compared to the battle of Armageddon the struggle in which God will defeat the forces of evil he said Thus Witnesses are conscientious objectors

Witnesses have encountered persecution and imprisonment because of their beliefs many of which are quite different from those of other Christian denominations

Members of the sect deny doctrines of the Trinity hell the immortality of the soul and the destruction of the earth and heavens on Judgment Day Because of their denial of the doctrine of a triune God they are classified as non Christian by some authorities

Witnesses are also against blood transfusions but not against medical aid a position that has often been confused Hurst said

Another unique feature of the denomination is its lack of ordained ministers The Witnesses consider each member of their group to be a clergyman, and all are self-supporting The Appleton congregation numbers 84 ministers New members go through a period of study with a minister and of intensive personal reading of the New World translation of the Bible, a translation which includes explanation of many passages

When a convert is ready to become a minister, he is baptized as an outward sign of personal dedication It is at this time that his door-to-door ministry begins

Members of the local congregation try to spend 10 hours each month in evangelistic work In addition they attend five one hour week's meetings and engage in personal Bible study

A Witness contacts between 6 000 and 7 000 persons each year Hurst estimates The local congregation has the city divided into 100 territories each Witness tries to cover his territory in four months

Approximately three times a year the areas are reassigned and another Witness attempts to establish contact where his predecessor failed

An extensive filing system, which includes members' notes on when and how often they have called and the reaction aids their efforts

Meetings each week consist of public lectures at 2 p m Sunday Bible study using the Watchtower magazine at 3 15 p m Sunday Bible study at 8 p m Tuesday theocratic ministry school at 7 30 p m Thursday and service meetings at 8 30 p m Thursday

The Bible study is held in Kingdom Hall the congregation's house of worship and in six private homes

While Hurst is the presiding minister several other witnesses are involved in supervisory capacities

Glenwin Hughes is the assistant congregation servant He keeps records of the different printed matter which the Witnesses distribute

His wife is assistant of the account She is in charge of the congregation's finance The local group does not pass a collection plate at meetings rather it has a box in the hallway of its structure for contributions No financial problems have been encountered Hurst said

Glen Smith is Bible study minister He accompanies different ministers to the home conducted Bible studies checking on proper methods, doctrines and record keeping

Literature servant Larry Fehrman supplies all ministers with the printed materials they use in their work for the congregation

The Appleton congregation has experienced a steady growth, and currently has 60 people studying for the ministry It was organized 1944 and moved into its own building in 1962 a steructure built entirely by members

Pledges totaling the set goal of $4 million have been raised by the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod for the expansion of its educational system

The offering, authorized by the 1965 convention, is the largest amount ever raised by the synod for this purpose, according to Walter R Bunge, Milwaukee national chairman of the offering

After six months of preliminary planning 20 000 visiting stewards contacted the 217 000 adult members of the synod and solicited two year pledges for the offering

Reports Needed

In making the announcement Bunge pointed out that we still must receive reports from about one third of our communicant membership We are optimistic that we will reach a final figure at least a million dollars in excess of our $4 million goal "

It May Take 10 Years, But Car TV Is Coming

Music Show at Chicago Featured Several Unusual Portable Sets

BY JINGO

It may take another decade — but the day could be coming when car TV is as common as car radio

Considering that there are 70 million car radios today this conjures up visions of mon-

Jingo

strous traffic jams, as express ways grind to a halt except during commercials, and creates a new traffic hazard — Batman

But on the bright side the back seat driver may finally be silenced She'll be too busy watching TV

The car TV trend is just getting started — but evidence of what lies ahead was found at the recent annual Music Show in Chicago's Conrad Hilton Hotel where many home entertainment" exhibits including TV will not be for homes at all, but for autos

They have even come up with TV portables that come with a plug connection to the car cigarette lighter One of them, the smallest TV portable ever sold, will be introduced at the show — a Japanese import with a 3-inch screen that weights just 5½ pounds. A couple of others, which also plug into the cigarette lighter, have bigger screens — 4½ inches in one instance, and a Cadillac-sized 9 inch in the other. One set combines TV with AM-FM radio and a phonograph, all in a compact car-sized unit.

In addition this year's Music Show spotlighted a wide variety of car TVs that will work just like car radios — except that they'll go in the back seat

William R Gard executive vice president of the National Association of Music Merchants which sponsored the annual Music Show sees the car TV trend as inevitable

"Television has become so much a part of the American home that inevitably it will become standard equipment on cars too" he predicts

Gard figures it will take about 10 years for TV to catch up with AM radio

When it happens, it could have a drastic effect on TV programming. For one thing, they might have to bring back "My Mother, the Car." "The Man from UNCLE" would probably fade into oblivion, because the gadgets on the show would be no competition for the gadgets in the car itself — not only TV but tape recorders, phonographs and FM radios. The radio traffic reports, now a rush-hour feature in most big cities, could switch to TV and feature live pictures of expressway snarls.

"Bonanza" and other oat epics would bring something new to commuter traffic — horses

Most auto TV installations — now and in the future — will probably be in back seats, Gard notes Americans, who have figured out how to read, eat, play cards and carry on household chores while watching TV, probably will be stumped when it comes to driving a car and watching TV Besides, there are state laws against front seat TV in a number of places

The driver may have to settle for a tape player, tape recorder, phonograph or FM radio — all spotlighted at this year's Music Show. And the backseat driver of the future may end up with a new responsibility — play-by-play descriptions of what is happening on TV.

The State and Federal Subsidies

A paragraph in a release from the state executive office at Madison recently illustrated the real. albeit reluctant. change of view of the Republican politicians of Wisconsin and elsewhere on the issue of federal financing of state and local government services.

It has been no secret that Republicans generally are more reluctant to turn over the responsibility for local government financing and with it to a considerable degree the policy-making for such services. to distant officeholders in Washington. The Democrats in their current Wisconsin campaign. in which the issues are sparse are hitting the theme that Gov. Knowles is too slow in claiming in Washington this state's fair share of the national treasury's largesse. The governor himself some months ago described the federal aid phenomenon as a "can of worms." although it seems likely that he was speaking about the prolixity and the confusion of purposes of the programs. as well as on the merit of ever-broadening federal involvement in local government.

In any event. it now turns out that the Knowles administration has successfully sponsored a bill that will set up. in effect. a federal aid harvesting bureau within the State Department of Administration.

Perhaps with a backward look at earlier political postures. the governor's office declares that the intention of the new law is to "participate in federal aid programs to the full extent that it is in the state's interest to so participate."

To that end. the new statute creates a "small unit." the announcement continues.

That description offers a reminder of a hassle recently between the Republicans and the Democrats on the State Board of Government Operations. which is an emergency appropriations agency. Democrats doubted that the board had the power. under a legitimate construction of the law. to authorize an appropriation for the "small unit." because the legislature as a whole had deliberately rejected the appropriation clause which was originally attached to the enabling bill. We share that view. If the huge State Department of Administration cannot spare a few persons to staff this "small unit" we are entitled to some surprise.

Basically. of course. this new bureau will be assigned to join in the appeals in Washington for the federal dollars. It will have the same function as agencies of other states. several of which now have posted their men in Washington to keep more closely informed. Wisconsin has joined the bandwagon. Perhaps it was inevitable. There is no assurance that a Wisconsin grant overlooked will be saved. It will merely be disbursed to more eager supplicants elsewhere. We are on a treadmill. and even a skeptical Republican leadership is unable to find a way to withdraw gracefully. or without harsh taxation penalties.

Bear Creek Votes No

One of the problems that continually faces educators is trying to raise educational standards against the wishes of the people in specific areas.

In several parts of the country. there have been conflicts with the Amish people who want to keep their children restricted to a more simple way of life according to their religious beliefs. Several southern states still have laws prohibiting the teaching of evolution. In Wisconsin there has been opposition to trying to end one room schools which often lack adequate physical facilities as well as modern educational opportunities.

Voters in the Bear Creek school district overwhelmingly defeated an order of the Cooperative Educational Agency to dissolve their district and attach them to the Clintonville district despite opportunities for wider educational experience at less cost in the attachment. Voters in the Luxemberg and Casco areas similarily turned down a plan to integrate the various elementary districts although there is a wide variance of school sizes and educational standards among the elementary schools.

Until quite recently the ratio of college attendance between city and rural youngsters was very dissimilar. The narrowing of the gap certainly can be attributed to some extent to the gradual merging of rural schools into larger units able to offer wider choices in courses at the high school level. But since there is a deep emotional attachment to smaller school districts. changes cannot be hastily accomplished. It took three referendums in Door County before the Gibralter district was integrated while East and West De Pere remain separate after half a century of trying to unite them. Until the majority of people in a school district understand the need for better schools for their children. the changes cannot come.

Nevertheless it is discouraging to those sincerely working for better educational opportunities to meet defeat. The Cooperative Educational Agency made the right decision regarding the Bear Creek school district from an educational viewpoint but the residents of that district have democratically defeated the plan for the time being.

Madame Nhu in the News

Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu made headlines and news a few years ago when she was one of the most vocal of Vietnamese in opposing the activities of the Viet Cong and Ho Chi Minh's Viet Minh. In a visit to the United States just before her husband and brother-in-law President Diem were overthrown and murdered in Saigon. she staunchly defended their regime and criticized the United States for not supporting it with more troops and money.

But Madame Nhu. who missed possible assassination herself because she was out of the country at the time. now sings a different tune. As usual Americans are the target of her sharp words.

In an interview published in a Paris newspaper. Mrs. Nhu is quoted as calling for an international peace conference over the war in Viet Nam. While this is nothing new. she then goes on to discuss her old foes. the Viet Cong. "They are Vietnamese like us. and nationalists like us. And like us they seek justice. The world condemns them only because they employ criminal means."

Mrs. Nhu says that her husband was actually having secret meetings with representatives of the Hanoi government and that he was on the verge of signing a peace treaty. This scared the Americans. she says. so they backed the coup d' etat that overthrew Diem's government and killed Diem and her husband. "It was the crime of my husband to be opposed to this war. The wrong of Nhu was not to believe in what Americans call 'liberty' and which they preach to all for that is the liberty of the jungle. which profits only the wealthy. only the powerful. and only the arrogant —that is to say. the Americans themselves. To the others they throw a few carrots. seasoned in plenty of humiliation. blackmail. threats and homicide."

To back up her intentions of trying to deal with the Communists. Mrs. Nhu says she is sending her two oldest children to Hanoi. A peace conference. she says. should include Communist representatives and "the purest nationalists. that is to say the survivors of the Nhu family. their partisans and myself."

Mrs. Nhu has good reason to be bitter at the Americans. She was royally snubbed by President Kennedy during her visit. We shall probably never know exactly how much the United States had to do with the overthrow of Diem's regime although it seems way out to believe her interpretation of the affair.

But however much we realize that some of her anger is because she lost out in the struggle for individual power in Viet Nam. there is a disturbing factor in her statements. How many other Vietnamese nationalists would at this time much rather find a way to cooperate with North Viet Nam than continue fighting this war? To what extent has it become part of the American crusade against Communism regardless of the wishes of the Vietnamese people or other tyrannies of government?

Looking Backward

Tennessee Back in Union Fold

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for July 26. 1866.

A week ago today the Legislature of Tennessee ratified the Constitutional Amendment. by the vote of 43 to 11. two not voting. and promptly the next day Congress of the United States restored the State of Tennessee to its former position as one of the States of the Federal Union. by a vote of 88 ayes to 47 nays.

The action of Tennessee came within the requirements of the Congressional plan of Reconstruction. and the promptness with which Congress greeted the return of her "erring sister" is the best proof possible of its earnest desire for a final settlement of a "vexatious" problem.

While every day brings new proof and evidence that the policy of President Johnson leads to nothing but confusion and trouble. we see in the final end peaceful admission of Tennessee the natural results of the principles which Congress would enforce.

Intriguing and deceptive Democracy. figuring as the "National Union" party or "Bread and Butter" party. was put to pitiable confusion in Congress. which will extend all over the country.

25 YEARS AGO

Saturday. July 19. 1941.

Three New London girls completed a six-day bicycle journey to Northport. Mich.. and back that would do credit to the enterprising Phineas Fogg of "Around the World in 80 Days." They spent an average of $4 a day on the trip. The girls made the 280-mile journey by way of Manitowoc. ferryboat to Frankfort. Mich.. then pedaling to Northport and back. ferryboat back to Kewaunee. then cycling home to New London. The travelers were Ruth Wainer. Jean Fox and Maxine Maxted.

Life guards at the Neenah swimming pool that summer were Martin Meyer. Donald Bentzen. John Donovan. Bill Miller. Eugene Calloway and Junior Herzfeldt. They all had passed their Red Cross life saving tests under pool supervisor Ole Jorgensen.

Nels Rasmussen was elected master councilor of the Winnebago Chapter. Order of DeMolay. Other officers included Kenneth Abraham. junior councilor; Clarence Merkely. senior steward; Charles Krueger. junior steward; Dock Christensen. chaplain; Paul Friedland. sentinel; Roy Douglas. marshal; Jerry Winch. standard bearer; Don Haertl. orator. and Carl Oderman. alminor.

10 YEARS AGO

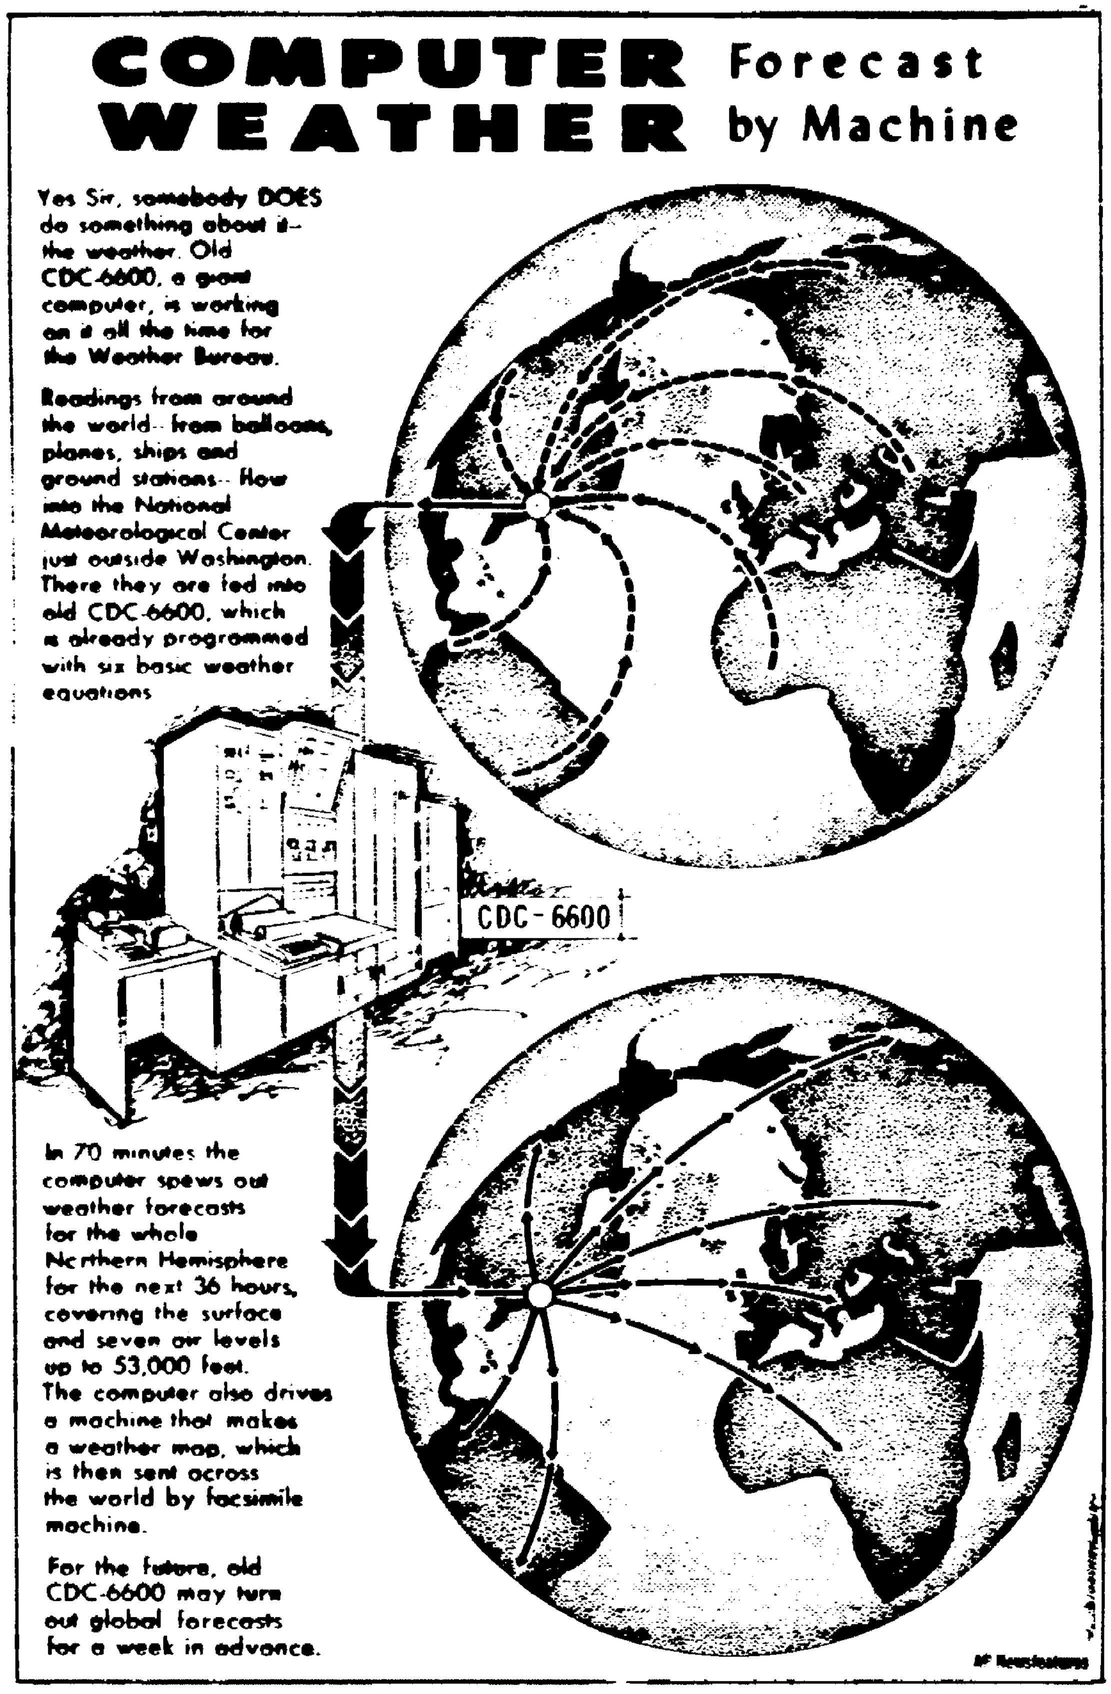
Saturday. July 21. 1956.

Franklin C. Jesse was re-elected to a second term as president of the Appleton Board of Education.

R. P. Groh was named parish assistant from St. Joseph Church to work with Ralph Moering. general chairman of the follow-up drive for the Appleton Catholic High School campaign. Harold McGinnis was parish assistant from St. Mary Church. Arnold Driessen at Sacred Heart and Robert Schindhelm. St. Therese.

Bill Simon and Beverly Adams became senior and junior checker champions at the Racine Park playground in Menasha.

Leo J. Merlo was elected chef de gare of Outagamie County 40 et 8. Voiture 1140. He succeeded Harold Van Dyke. Appleton.



COMPUTER WEATHER Forecast by Machine

Yes Sir, somebody DOES do something about it— the weather. Old CDC-6600, a giant computer, is working on it all the time for the Weather Bureau.

Readings from around the world—from balloons, planes, ships and ground stations—flow into the National Meteorological Center just outside Washington. There they are fed into old CDC-6600, which is already programmed with six basic weather equations.

In 70 minutes the computer spews out weather forecasts for the whole Northern Hemisphere for the next 36 hours, covering the surface and seven air levels up to 53,000 feet. The computer also drives a machine that makes a weather map, which is then sent across the world by facsimile machine.

For the future, old CDC-6600 may turn out global forecasts for a week in advance.

Human Right Must Prevail Over Property Right, Writer Asserts

Editor. Post-Crescent:

May I quote The Post-Crescent to The Post-Crescent. in reply to their recent invocation of "A home is a castle" in relation to fair housing legislation which covers privately owned housing?

On May 1. 1965. in reference to a similar fair housing bill in the state legislature. Post-Crescent editors had this to say: "People who oppose fair housing laws — other than those who openly favor racial or religious prejudice — usually base their arguments on the ancient and honored principle that "a man's home is his castle"; in other words. that when a man is in his own home. he shall be safe from many of the rules that govern his action when he is at work. in the marketplace or otherwise commingling with the public. Certainly this tradition has substance: it is recognised. among other places. in the U.S. Constitution with respect to the billeting of troops.

"But what these people overlook is the fine distinction between the rights of a man who is living in his home and intends to stay there. and the man who has decided to sell his home. In the latter case. it seems to us. one has no right to apply this "castle" theory to the future. when one will no longer be living in the home. Rather. such an individual is simply a person selling something on the market. and should be subject to the same restrictions that apply to others in that situaion.

"In any event. as the Milwaukee Sentinel well put it. if there is a conflict of rights here. then the human right must prevail over the property right. 'for it is infinitely more important that a man have the freedom to live in a home of his own choosing than that he be allowed to choose to whom he will sell when he is finished living in that house'."

The conclusion in the July 5 editorial that an unfavorable majority in a committee "probably represents the thinking of a majority of the people in the nation on open housing legislation" is also called into question by The Post-Crescent's May 5 editorial: "It is an interesting commentary on the current state of legislative politics in Wisconsin that the Senate Judiciary Committee voted 5-0 against a fair housing bill that had drawn outspoken support from such diverse individuals as Republican Wilbur Renk. democrat Pat Lucey and Packer Coach Vince Lombardi. to say nothing of the hundreds of religious leaders of all faiths. Opposition to the bill was limited to the real estate industry. a few property owners and one Milwaukee Negro politician who thought the bill wasn't strong enough. But apparently their opinions prevailed among the committee members."

This editorial went on to agree with "a successful real estate broker of many years standing who bitterly assailed his fellow realtors for their unrelenting opposition to this kind of legislation" and for 'publishing propaganda designed to raise unwarranted fears among home owners and others as to the results of the proposed legislation . . . The stand of the state's real estate industry on this question has been unimaginative and anything but constructive. It has tended to picture the hundreds of practitioners of the real estate sales business as "aginners" or even as people who would defend act of racial discrimination. We do not believe this is an accurate picture of the association's membership." (This judgment was recently borne out by the stand taken at a meeting of the Madison Realtors Association!)

The Post Crescent of May. 1965. concludes that. "After all. fair housing legislation would simply extend to the real estate industry rules that have long applied to most other types of business . . . in essence. that anyone selling a product or service in the marketplace must not discriminate against a prospective customer because of his race. color. religious affiliation or national origin."

Sources Used in 'Phone Messages Questionable

Editor. Post-Crescent.

For the past two weeks the Let Freedom Ring telephone messages sponsored by J. W. Steinhardt of Appleton have been attacking Walter Reuther. President of the United Auto Workers. The sources of documentation for the accusations against Mr. Reuther during the current week are questionable. The anonymous voice denouncing Mr Reuther refers to condemnations of Reuther in the 1958 American Mercury magazine and to an attack on him by the late J. B. Matthews. In 1958 the American Mercury was one of the most blatantly anti-Semitic publications in America and was denounced by the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith for its anti-Semitism. The late J. B. Matthews became infamous in the early 1950's for his attacks on the loyalty of the Protestant clergy (a view also held by Robert Welch. Mr. Steinhardt's leader in the John Birch Society). I can hardly think of a more effective way of discouragning intelligent anti-communism than that which the Let Freedom Ring group has chosen. basing their so-called anti-communism on such tainted sources.

State Warden Service Has Been Without Chief for Three Years

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON. Wis. — The warden service is an indispensable part of the equipment of the Wisconsin conservation administration. As the concept of public protection of natural resources is steadily broadened. the enforcement machine becomes more essential. Like the stand of Richard III at Bosworth field. it is vital to the whole campaign.

Wyngaard

Thus there is more than passing importance in the fact that the enforcement division of the State Conservation Department has been under uncertain command for three years. The uncertainty appears likely to continue indefinitely as a consequence of the confounding cloud of litigation underway about the methods required in the choice of a chief of the enforcement division. Some knowledgeable critics are saying that the morale of the enforcement force is suffering as a result of the stalemate in the recruitment of a new head of the division that has continued since the retirement of the previous commander on pension in 1963. That may be. It would not surprise anyone accustomed to performing as a member of a team service. in public or private employment.

THE PROBLEM

Yet it is difficult for the onlooker to identify the causes or to assess the blame for what is an unfortunate state of affairs.

As matters stand. Walter Zelinske is acting chief of the division. but there is a cloud over his tenure and it requres no imagination to conclude that his service and his influence are severely affected. Zelinske was the choice of the Conservation Commission for the job three years ago. under what appeared to be a valid examination conducted by the State Bureau of Personnel. and a legitimate certification of eligible candidates following that testing.

As it turned out. that certification was invalid. A defeated candidate sued. took the issue to the State Supreme Court. and showed that the appointment was illegal. Whereupon the Commission named Zelinske acting chief warden. pending the outcome of collateral suits by the officer and his rivals.

If there is any blame to be attached to the parties in the proceedings. therefore. it would appear to be against the personnel officers of the State Department of Administration. Yet they have a reasonable defense. to the extent that they were applying traditional rules that were not heretofore challenged. Curiously enough. the Supreme Court in effect wrote new law on a situation that had previously been unquestioned during a long period of civil service administration in a state which has been more than ordinarily committed to the precepts of the merit system of public employment.

Zelinske is fighting for the office he won under the rules as they were understood. He has the encouragement of firm backing by the Commission and the Conservation Department director. Naturally enough. there are others who believe they are entitled to the job. including the candidate who has proved that he was rejected in violation of the law as the court concluded the legislature intended it to be.

Pulling and hauling may continue for many more months. It is conceivable that the ultimate victor will be sworn in with credentials that are old. There may be candidates of quality available today who did not compete three years ago. The man finally chosen will almost surely take his seat with animosities and doubts about the legitimacy of his survival. In the remaining interval. of whatever length. efficiency and spirit in the enforcement division are not likely to improve. For all those reasons. there is a growing demand for a new examination. with a fresh grading panel. for the sake of restoring confidence in the integrity of the recruitment system.

Pet Lover Believes Cats Can be Kept at Home

Editor. Post-Crescent:.

In a letter to your paper. Geraldine Helms asked to hear from other cat lovers. and since no letter has appeared. I will try to answer some of her questions.

Yes. Geraldine. cats do go to the bathroom on people's property. They have to go somewhere. They go around shrubbery and in flower beds. They also go in children's sandboxes. They may be more neat about it than dogs for they usually cover their excrement. But this makes it worse for you can't see it nor avoid it when digging around your flowers or playing in the sandbox. What's more. they habitually go in the same places. This can create quite a stench especially under certain whether conditions.

They also have other habits which are annoying. They climb on windows. into garages. and cars. It isn't much fun getting into a car to find you have picked up hair on your clothing from someone's pet. They are sometimes excrutiatingly noisy when they mate — which they often do in the night close to people's houses. Sometimes people love their pets so much they forget that people without pets have rights too. They sometimes ask more privileges for their pets than for children. It isn't fair that pet owners have the fun of pets at the inconvenience and annoyance of others.

How can you keep a cat home? The same way you keep a dog home. Is this more unnatural for a cat than a dog? I remember when people said it was unnatural to keep a dog confined when this was initiated in Appleon. Actually it has proved to be better for both the pet and the public. It may be a little more work for the pet owner as he must watch the pet more carefully. clean up after him. and take time to exercise him. But really now. do you want your pet to roam the streets. play with mice and birds. and then come into your home. climb on beds. furniture and tables? Do you want others to dislike your pet?

A Pet Lover.

Home Buyers May be Screened by Realtors

Editor. Post-Crescent:

Several questions come to mind after reading the recent letter farom Ronald N. Williams. executive vice president of the Appleton Board of Realtors. Inc.. granted that realtors are required and in all probability conform 100 per cent to the section of their code of ethics requiring them "to transmit every bona fide offer they receive to their clients". it would appear that realtors are under no obligation to show property to prospective renters and or buyers from whom subsequent potential bona fide offers might be a source of embarrassment either to realtor or owner.

This situation is somewhat analagous to the individual who can't get a job because he lacks experience and can't gain experience because he can't get a job. In other words. if an individual is not shown a piece of available property. he can't possibly make a bona fide offer. To say. as Mr. Williams does. that realtors "have always taken the position that it is the decision of the owner alone to accept or reject a buyer or renter" pre-supposes. it seems to me. that all potential buyers or renters share equally in the opportunity of seeing and evaluating all available property and not. as seems to me to be the case. that a subtle form of screening based on a "gentleman's agreement" occurs before available property is shown.

Tigers Snap Six-Game Losing Streak as Cash Powers Grand Slam

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Though he must now concern himself with a problem of greater moment than the winning or losing of baseball games, Bob Swift is reveling in Norm Cash's heroics along with all the other Detroit Tigers.

Cash's grand-slam home run Friday night sent the Tigers to a 10-5 victory over Cleveland and broke a six-game losing streak. And it gave Swift, back in a Detroit hospital, the first good news he'd had that day.

Swift, who became acting manager when Charlie Dressen was felled by a heart attack earlier in the season, was told Friday he had a malignant lung tumor. But when the team physician, Dr. Russell Wright, came to visit Swift in the hospital he found the former Tiger catcher as concerned with the team as himself.

"He said he'd like to see them doing better," Wright said. As far as Cash was concerned, it was no sooner said than done.

Into Upper Stands

The big first baseman stepped up in the sixth with Tigers on every base and drove a pitch by Gary Bell into the upper right-field stands, ending Bell's work for the day.

Later Cash had two chances to enter the record books, but had to settle for another two runs batted in. In the seventh and ninth innings Cash came up with the bases jammed, but the first time he was walked and the second time hit a sacrifice fly.

In other American League games, Baltimore beat Chicago 3-1, Kansas City knocked off Washington 7-2, Boston edged Minnesota in 11 innings 6-5 and California took New York 6-4.

Coach Frank Skaff will run the Tigers until either Dressen or Swift is able to return. Swift's condition is described as one that should be responsive to treatment.

Jim Palmer threw a six-hitter as the Orioles maintained their 11½-game bulge over the rest of the league. It was his 11th victory of the season. Brooks Robinson hit his 19th homer.

Jim Gosger and Danny Cater homered for Kansas City as Washington lost its fifth game in a row. The Athletics had gone eight games without a homer.

Single in 11th

George Thomas singled in a run with two out in the 11th to give Boston its victory. Don Demeter led off the inning with a single, went to second on a sacrifice and scored on Thomas' smash between first and second.

Tom Satriano hit a two-run triple in the ninth to push California into third place. Satriano's blast came off reliever Jim Bouton after Rick Reichardt had tripled and Bob Rodgers was intentionally walked.

Jitter-Joe's Tips Bleier's

Fred Fuller Fans 17 in MAC Softball Tourney

MENASHA — A sparkling performance by Frank and Pat's pitcher Fred Fuller, who fanned 17 batters and allowed only two hits, and two extra inning games, one decided in the bottom of the 11th frame, highlighted the action of the quarter finals in the MAC softball tournament Friday evening at Jefferson Park.

Fuller gave up two singles, walked two and struck out the side in order in the third, fourth, fifth and sixth innings to lead the Neenah squad to a 7-0 victory over Manitowoc's Buffalo Inn.

Milwaukee's Fin and Feather took advantage of three errors in the last of the 11th inning to edge Magnaw Electric of Racine, 4-3.

Provides Heroics

Denny Roff provided the last minute heroics for Menasha's Jitter and Joe's as he slammed a home run in the top of the eighth frame to down Appleton's Bleier's, 2-1, in a pitchers' duel between Tom Boettcher and Bleier's Bob Diener.

Frank and Pat's and Jitter and Joe's, both Twin City teams, advanced to the semi-finals of the tournament which will be played Sunday afternoon. Their opponents will be determined this evening when Oscar's of Fond du Lac battle Kaukauna's Bob and Mary's at 7:30 p.m. for the right to meet the Neenah nine and Lox Club of Combined Locks faces Fin and Feather at 8:45 p.m., with the winner playing Jitter and Joe's.

Frank and Pat's tallied twice in the fourth inning and added three runs in the fifth and an insurance marker in the final frame to notch the victory. Winning pitcher Fuller gave up a walk in the first inning, a single in the third and a walk and a single in the seventh. All but four of the outs were by the route of strikeouts.

In the Bleier's-Jitter's contest, Roff led off the top of the eighth inning with a circuit blast to send Jitter and Joe's to the semi-finals.

The Menasha team took a 1-0 lead in the fourth on a four-bagger by Rufus Ihde. Bud Koehnke scored for Bleier's in the fifth on a triple by Dave Trinrud to knot the game. Both teams got runners on base in the seventh frame but were unable to push across the deciding tally.

The winning pitcher was Tom Boettcher and the loss went to Bob Diener.

first allowing two runs to score. Stephens reached second on an error, and came in when the catcher threw into left field in an attempt to catch him stealing.

Ed Edwards, seemingly fired up by the lead his teammates had given him, struck out the first two Eau Claire batters in the fifth but then ran into trouble.

Steve Anderson walked and stole second. Tom Knudtson was safe on an infield hit advancing Anderson. Knudtson jogged to second with a stolen base in an attempt to draw a throw. Steve Schmit rapped a run-scoring single to center and Knudtson tallied when the fielder's throw to the plate was wide.

With two out in their half of the inning, Dodgeville struck back. Bilke was safe on a routine third out. Edwards cracked a triple to right center to tie the score and Balk blooped a winning run-scoring single down the right field line.

Edwards went the distance for Dodgeville with seven walks and four strikeouts.

Struck Out Four

Reggie Grulke opened for Eau Claire but was lifted in favor of Stan Morley in the sixth. Gruhlke walked one and struck out four. Morley issued two bases on balls and fanned the side in the seventh.

Dodgeville's Balk was the only player with a pair of safeties and Black and Edwards had the only extra-base hits, both triples.

Only two of Eau Claire's runs were earned and all five of Dodgeville's were unearned.

Four errors were committed by Dodgeville and three by Eau Claire.

Eau Claire stole seven bases in the game.

Friend Blanks Dodgers, 3-0 As Mets Extend Win Streak

Giants Within Two Percentage Points of Lead After Victory

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Mets have quit messing around with Ron Swoboda, and now he's messing around with everyone else.

Swoboda, who complained last month that the Mets were restricting his effectiveness by playing him irregularly, hit a two-run homer that sealed the Mets' latest victory.

In New York's two previous games, both with San Francisco, Swoboda hit a 10th-inning homer that gave the Mets a 3-2 victory - rapped three hits and drove in three runs in their 14-3 triumph.

Playing Every Day

The 22-year-old slugger has been playing every day recently, which is what he felt he should have been doing the entire season.

"They've been messing around with me," Swoboda complained about six weeks ago. "They messed around with me at the end of last season, and they've been doing it again. If you have to sit around and not play for three days, you might as well quit.

"It's the young guys who are going to make this ball club. But how's a young player supposed to learn when he's in and out? I've only batted against a couple of righties. You can't learn that way. If I have to be platooned, I'll look for something else to do."

The Giants and Dodgers wouldn't mind that at all.

Giants Win

While the Mets remained one-half game out of eighth and moved to within one game of seventh, the Giants climbed to within two percentage points of first place in the National League by defeating Philadelphia 4-1 behind Gaylord Perry, who pitched a two-hitter and struck out 15.

Elsewhere in the NL, Houston defeated Pittsburgh 5-2, Cincinnati whipped Atlanta 8-2 and St. Louis knocked off Chicago 9-4.

Swoboda's homer, off Claude Osteen, came in the eighth inning. The Mets also scored in the third on Ron Hunt's single. Bob Friend blanked the Dodgers on eight hits.

Hitless for Seven

Perry held the Phillies hitless for seven innings, but Clay Dalrymple led off the eighth with a line single to right field. Perry struck out Rich Allen four times and Bill White three. Willie McCovey drove in three San Francisco runs with a homer and a double.

Houston's Larry Dierker gave up home runs to Bob Bailey and Willie Stargell, but the Astros already had built a 4-0 lead in the first inning. Bailey's error, doubles by Rusty Staub, Lee Maye and Bob Aspromonte and Ron Brand's single accounted for the unearned runs.

Cincinnati exploded for six runs in the sixth inning, three on Leo Cardenas' double and two on Pete Rose's homer. That wiped out Atlanta's 2-1 lead. Frank Bolling scored both of the Braves' runs, the first on a first-inning homer.

Joe Hoerner's three-run homer climaxed a four-run, eighth-inning rally that carried St. Louis past Chicago. The blast by the relief pitcher helped the Cardinals get over the .500 mark for the first time this season. Dick Ellsworth suffered his 15th setback against four victories.

said Snead, "but you lose the elasticity in your body as you grow older. That's the whole difference along with nerves, of course."

Snead kept banging away at the practice tee, telling onlookers exactly what he would do with each shot and then doing it.

Going into those final two rounds Snead also was trailed by Julius Boros at 141. Grouped at 143 were Gary Player, Doug Sanders, Jacky Cupit, Aaron, and Billy Farrell.

Jack Nicklaus, the Masters and British Open champion was tied with those at 146. This group also included U.S. Open champion Billy Casper. Arnold Palmer was nine shots away with 148.

Menasha South, Roosevelt Reach Finals of LL Tourney

Menasha South and the Roosevelt Division all-star tourney team met today on the Linwood diamond for the district Little League championship.

The Menasha club ousted Linwood Friday, 4-2, while Roosevelt toppled Menasha North, 3-2.

Dave Siewers hurled Roosevelt's 2-hitter, striking out 12 and walking only two. North's Tom Bohmke also pitched a 2-hitter and struck out 10, but issued six walks.

Pair of Errors

Roosevelt tallied a run in the second on a Siewers' single and two errors and added another and added another marker in marker in the third on Dick Schindhelm's single, after Siewers reached base on an error.

North managed a run in the fourth on a walk to Joe Flom, passed ball and infield out, but Roosevelt boosted its lead to 3-1 in the sixth when Dave Tebo walked and scored on Bruce Martin's single. Chuck Abel singled for North in the bottom of the sixth and scored on two passed balls.

Steve Geer checked Linwood on three hits, striking out seven and walking two. Bruce Beyer, who gave six hits, was the loser. Beyer whiffed five and passed four.

Bruce Karnopp delivered the key blow for Menasha South. Karnopp, who also singled, rapped a 3-run homer in the fifth inning. Carl Gierke rapped a ground-rule double in the second and scored on an error for the first South run. Geirke also singled in the game.

Linwood's runs came in the first on a walk to Mike Wallen, an error and single by Bruce Beyer. Brian Kasten's singled in the fourth for another run. Beyer had two of the three Linwood hits.

Alpine Ski Test Training Stopped

FARELLONES, Chile (AP) — Training for next month's world alpine ski championships was virtually suspended today because of a severe snowstorm.

The storm caused a power failure in the La Parva area, the training ground for the United States, Canadian, East German and Australian skiers. Sixteen other nations are entered in the Aug. 4-14 championships at Portillo.

Jean Saubert, the Olympic ace from Ogden, Utah, and several other American competitors managed a brief workout Friday despite the storm. "We didn't do any racing, just got some exercise," Miss Saubert said.

Still More Concerned With Tigers' Plight

Bob Swift Found to Have Lung Cancer

DETROIT (AP) — Even news that he has lung cancer couldn't take Bob Swift's mind off the plight of the baseball team he has served as player, coach and acting manager.

Swift, 51-year-old third base coach who became acting manager of the Detroit Tigers when Charlie Dressen suffered a heart attack, was told Friday he has a malignant lung tumor.

He heard the news in Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, where he was admitted July 14, suffering from food poisoning. Subsequent examinations disclosed the cancer.

One of his visitors Friday was Dr. Russell Wright, Tigers team physician, who said Swift divided their conversation between the disease and Detroit's performance on the field.

Lost Six Straight

Detroit had lost six straight games, and Swift "said he'd like to see them doing better," the doctor said.

The Tigers, who learned of Swift's illness prior to a night game in Cleveland, broke a six-game losing streak, winning 10-5. First base coach Frank Skaff, who took over when Swift was hospitalized, was at the helm.

Skaff will continue in charge of the team until either Dressen, who was stricken May 16, or Swift return, said James A. Campbell, Tigers general manager.

Wright described Swift as "pretty stable and pretty much at ease when he discussed" the malignancy.

"His wife (Edith) had a malignancy in 1951. She made a good recovery from it," Wright said, "and that's given him a lot of oomph. It's added much to his encouragement and thinking."

X-ray or Cobalt

Wright said Swift probably will undergo X-ray or cobalt treatments within a few weeks. He will be out for an undetermined time.

Swift, a plain-spoken man who is respected highly by players and Tigers officials, has spent almost all his working years since 1943 with Detroit or its farm clubs.

A 13-year veteran of the major leagues — 10 years as a Tiger catcher — Swift managed the Tigers from May 16 when Dressen suffered his second heart attack, until July 14.

Interim Manager

In March 1965, when Dressen suffered his first heart attack, Swift was named interim manager by Campbell. Campbell said then "there has never been any doubt in my mind about who would take over the team if we suddenly were plunged into a situation like this one." Swift continued as acting manager through May 30, 1965, when Dressen returned.

Swift caght three games in the 1945 World Series which the Tigers won by defeating the Chicago Cubs.

Prior to 1943, Swift played for the old St. Louis Browns and the then Philadelphia Athletics.

LC-K Can Clinch FRVL Flag Sunday

LITTLE CHUTE — The Menasha Macs will invade the Little Chute diamond to meet the Little Chute-Kimberly Papermakers in a Fox River Valley League game at 2 p.m. Sunday.

The loop tilt will serve as a warm-up for both teams which will be competing in the state semi-pro tournament next week.

A victory for LC-K also will wrap up the second half championship and clinch the overall league title.

Dodgeville Catcher, Tom Stephens, gets the throw too late to put the tag on Eau Claire's Jim Black. Black tripled home a run in the second inning and is scoring himself on the same play when the first relay from the outfield got past the third baseman, who recovered to make the late throw to the plate. Dodgeville came back to win, 5-4, in the opening game of the State Babe Ruth Tournament at Goodland Field Friday afternoon. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Snead Only Golfer Below Par After 36 Holes of PGA

Slammin' Sam's 139 Aggregate Leads January, Geiberger by One Shot; Boros Third at 141

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Swinging Sammy Snead is tickling the hearts of oldtimers the world over with his youthful early footing in the PGA's Golden Anniversary Championship.

No longer The Slammer by his own admission, the 54-year-old West Virginian left behind him a field packed with youngsters who weren't born when Snead won his first golf championship.

Snead shot a 36-35—71 Friday for a 139 total and was the only one under par at the halfway mark of the tournament over the 7,180-yard, par 35-35—70 Firestone Country Club course.

Al Geiberger and Don January were one shot behind at 140.

Has Hip Injury

Limping along with a hip injury Snead went to the practice tee after Friday's round to work on his theory that "the time to practice is when you're playing well."

Tommy Aaron, who was born the year Snead won his first tournament — the Oakland Open in 1937 — walked past Snead, who kept threading perfect shots down the practice fairway.

"No sense practicing next to him," said Aaron. "It only makes you look bad."

"You'd look like a diamond over here son," said Snead. "See that shot, that was a seven iron. You'd only need a nine to get that far."

Lost 25 Yards

How much has Snead lost on his shots off the tee as the years have piled up? "Twenty five yards on all the long shots," he said. "If you need two long shots to get to a hole, you're starting off with a 50-yard disadvantage. That's a lot of yardage and you have to make up for it with accuracy and putting."

Putting, however, is not one of Snead's strengths these days.

"Age works on your nerves and putting is all nerves. I've thought about taking pills for the nerves but they take away your coordination and you can't play golf without coordination," he said.

Snead, with only the wrinkles around his piercing eyes showing any sign of his age, still has the fluid, beautiful swing which has earned him more than 100 championships.

"Yep, the swing's the same."

Carol J. Sorensen Repeats as State Links Champion

Racine Teen-Ager Nearly Blows 6-Up Lead Against Mrs. Clauder

MILWAUKEE (AP)— With a crowd of 1,000 persons watching, teenager Carol Jean Sorensen watched her 5-hole lead dwindle Friday before winning the Wisconsin Women's Golf Association title for the second time.

Miss Sorensen, 18, of Racine, defeated Mrs. Paula Clauder, a Milwaukee grandmother, 2-up in a 36-hole test that was not decided until the final green.

The defending titlist was 5-up over Mrs. Clauder after the first 18 holes. She had shot a record 2-under-par 73 to Mrs. Clauder's 79.

6-Up on 19th

She went 6-up on the 19th but Mrs. Clauder, a six-times champion, cut the margin to 3 holes by the 27th and was only down two after lifting a shot from a trap to within three feet of the 30th green.

They split the next trio of holes. Then Mrs. Clauder had a birdie 2 on the 34th with the help of a five-foot uphill putt, and was only down one.

They halved the 35th with par 4's. Mrs. Clauder, who had defeated Miss Sorensen in extra holes in their only previous encounter, set out on the final hole by hooking into the rough.

She overshot the green into a trap. When Miss Sorensen shot to within 3 feet of the green and Mrs. Clauder's putter approach narrowly missed the hole, the challenger conceded the match giving Miss Sorensen a par 5 to her double bogey seven.

Landed in Two Traps

Miss Sorensen landed in only two traps during the first 18 holes. But she visited six during the afternoon 18.

The victor had 41-40 — 81 in the afternoon to Mrs. Clauder's 39-40 — 79. The challenger was hurt by having to three-putt three times.

Nancy Ann Nelson of Whitewater, 2-up after 27 holes, defeated Jean Guestella of Madison 4 and 2 for the junior division crown.

Miss Sorensen surrendered the junior's title a year ago for her first — and successful — crack at the championship flight.

Quad Cities Deal Foxes Pair of ML Setbacks, 11-2, 7-4

Five Fox Cities Hurlers Raked For 18 Runs and 15 Safeties

DAVENPORT, Ia. — Quad Cities Angels raked five Foxes hurlers for 18 runs and 15 hits en route to a doubleheader sweep over Fox Cities, 11-2 and 7-4.

Jim Maness, who rapped out five hits in seven trips and pushed across three runs, led the Foxes' production of 13 hits for the two games.

Two 5-run innings, the third and sixth, boosted QC well over the hump in the opener. The Angels mustered their five in the third on just two hits, a 2-run single by Pascual Ramirez and a 2-run double by Paul Alderette.

The 5-run sixth was highlighted by Alderette's 3-run homer over the left field fence. All five runs in the sixth, coming off Foxes' reliefer Gary Schaefer, were unearned.

George Hunter and Maness singled in the seventh and Al Fitzmorris blooped a single to load the bases. Al Kristowski forced Fitzmorris at second but Jim Vopicka dropped the ball after the putout trying to nail Kristowski at first and both Foxes' runs scored.

Jim Vopicka's single, Jim Dneff's double and Paul Click's single pushed in two Quad Cities runs in the second frame of the nightcap but the Foxes gained the upper hand for the first time on this night with three runs in the third.

Jones Singles

Jerry Boehmer opened with a walk and "Deacon" Jones singled. George Hunter doubled to right scoring Boehmer and Maness greeted reliefer Eric Spelman with a 2-run single to center.

Quad Cities tied the count at 3-3 in the fifth on a double by Gonzola, a single by Joe Henderson and Gonzola scored when Henderson was caught in a rundown between first and second.

Dodgeville '9' Rallies Twice to Beat Eau Claire

Dodgeville came from behind twice to edge Eau Claire 5-4, in the opening game of the State Babe Ruth Tournament at Goodland Field Friday afternoon.

Jim Black got Eau Claire off to an early lead in the second as he tripled to left center after a teammate walked. He scored himself as the shortstop threw wild on the relay from the outfield.

Dodgeville came back with three in its half of the fourth on singles by Barry Bilke and Ken Balk.

Host Team Held to One Hit, Commits Six Errors in Field

BY TIM PETERMANN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Gary Gloede hurled 1-hit ball and his Janesville teammates capitalized on six Appleton errors to defeat Appleton, 7-3, in the second game of the State Babe Ruth Tournament at Goodland Field Friday night.

Gloede retired the first 15 and last six Appleton batters in order. In between he walked John Hannemann to open the sixth inning, and, apparently unnerved by allowing a man to reach base, he proceeded to walk Pete Hahn and gave up his only hit of the game to load the bases. John Pitch, the ninth man in the Appleton lineup got the hit.

Gloede issued another base on balls to force in a run. Then Tom Birk hit a sacrifice fly for the second tally and Steve Fusfeld grounded out bringing in Appleton's third and final run.

Single Tallies

In the meantime Janesville jumped on Appleton's Don Brinkman for single tallies in the first and second, three in the third and two in the sixth.

In the first Jerry Davis singled with one out, went to third as Steve Ellis was safe on an error and came home on a wild pitch.

Mike Lalor singled with one out in the second, stole second, went to third on Ken Burdick's hit and came home as Brinkman balked.

Gloede doubled to lead off the third. Another hit and a walk were sandwiched around the second out to load the bases. Then what would have been the third out turned into an almost unmatchable play.

Chain Reaction

Jim Hanewold grounded to first for a routine out but the first sacker fumbled the ball for the first of a chain reaction of four errors that cleaned the bases and left Hanewold on third.

With one out in the sixth Burdick worked Brinkman for a walk and scored on a three base throwing error when Davis grounded to third. Another out

Minor Injuries Plague 'Stars'

Defensive Back, Bill Clay Sent Back to Redskins

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — The College All Stars, with less than two weeks to go before they meet the champion Green Bay Packers of the National Football League, held two more workouts Friday in Northwestern University's Dyche Stadium.

Numerous minor injuries have plagued the collegians and forced the coaches to use several men on both offense and defense. The squad polished its offense and defense and got a little contact in the process.

Knee Injury

Bill Clay, a defensive back from the University of Mississippi, was sent back to the Washington Redskins Friday because of a knee injury he suffered in the recent All America game in Atlanta, Ga.

Previously the All Star squad lost Gale Gillingham, a Minnesota lineman, and Randy Johnson, a quarterback from Texas A & I.

Gillingham was one of the Packers' top draft choices, and was transferred to the Packers' training camp at Green Bay, Wis., Tuesday after fracturing a bone in his hand.

Roy Schmidt Eyes Guard Spot

Bay Rookie Credits Weightlifting For Increase in Speed and Agility

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — If muscular Roy Schmidt makes the Packer grade he — and the Pack — will have to credit the world's amateur weightlifting champion with an assist.

Schmidt, a 22-year-old Cali[illegible] with an imposing collection of biceps, is convinced hoisting of assorted dumbbells has enhanced his speed and [illegible] with which he has [illegible] more than a modicum [illegible] these [illegible] 1966 National [illegible] League [illegible] training camp.

The [illegible] 245-pound freshman from Long Beach Calif. State who is engaged in a tight 3-way struggle with 1965 taxi-toiler [illegible] Strand and fellow rookie at the moment Ralph Wenzel of San Diego State for an offensive guard berth, is well aware he will need every weapon at his command to crash the final 40.

Rookie With Chargers

Ever ready to spread the weightlifting gospel, Schmidt reports: "I started working out with Ron Vogle, who is a rookie with the San Diego Chargers right now, about a year ago. He's real strong — he's benched 425 pounds (a lift from the chest while on his back for the benefit of the uninitiated)."

Higher muscle building education followed. "I started working out this last spring with Pat Casey — he's the world amateur heavyweight weightlifting champion, the only man ever to lift 2,000 pounds in three lifts." Roy noted admiration in his tone. "He did a 592 pound bench and a 775-pound squat. He had a bad back after the squat so he only did a 635-pound lift. Pat showed both Ron and me several lifts that helped both our speed and agility."

What about his own accomplishments? "My best bench is 370 pounds," Schmidt, the earnest scholarly Oxnard, Calif. native informed. "My best squat is 465 and my best dead lift was 570."

Power Decreases

"I think I could have done better," he added matter-of-factly, "but I started running to get in shape for football and when you start running your power starts to decrease.

"Just having strength is not enough," Roy, a physical education major and biology minor at Long Beach State who also takes a deep interest in nutrition, is quick to note. "You've also got to know how to use your strength. I'll be learning how to use mine as long as I play football."

Be that as it may, his off-season efforts apparently are already bearing fruit. "A couple of times I've been struck pretty hard in practice," he explained. "Ordinarily I might have dropped to my knees, but I had enough power left to finish off my block.

"I don't think you get as fatigued either," Schmidt said. "I think the fatigue factor comes in there too."

Fringe Benefit

There also is another fringe benefit, he confided. "I've put on about 25 pounds since I started lifting. Right now I'm about 10 pounds heavier than I was last season when I played at 235.

"It did decrease my speed for a while," he admits, "but I think it's coming back. It slowed down my quickness too for a while but I think it's coming back too. At least," he dryly observed, "I hope it will. They have a lot of good rookies in this camp."

Impressed with the Green Bay camp, Schmidt declared: "This is a great lesson to me. I thought I knew a little football when I came in but I found out I don't know anything.

"This is a real great outfit, boy," he fervently appended. "This is the best. They've got the greatest personnel, the greatest personalities — everything."

DETROIT (AP) — Linebacker Ernie Clark signed his contract with the Detroit Lions of the National Football League Friday, leaving six players still bargaining.

LC-K to Face West Allis in Semi-Pro Test

MADISON (AP) — The 1965 runnerup must meet a two-time champion in the first round as 18 teams start play next week in the Wisconsin Semi-pro Baseball Championships.

Kimberly-Little Chute, which finished second in last year's meet, was paired with two-time titlist West Allis on the four-game Friday night card.

Richland Center and Madison Shamrocks will meet in the opening game of the five-day Marathon Wednesday.

Another two-time winner, Monona Grove Lakers, will play Waupaca Thursday. The third double titlist in the field, Milwaukee Allen Bradley, clashes with Eau Claire Friday.

Defending champion Milwaukee Falk is not competing.

Trails by Nine Shots

Palmer Not Counting Himself Out of Tourney

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "Anything can happen on this course."

And with that comment Arnold Palmer sounded the battle cry that could make Sam Snead, Al Geiberger and Don January cringe.

The 54-year-old Snead, the halfway leader in the PGA Golf Championship, has put together rounds of 68-71—139.

He showed signs of weariness Friday but was the only player in the field able to master par for the 36 holes of the rugged par 70 Firestone Country Club course.

Geiberger, the first round leader, with Snead and January from Dallas, Tex., were only a stroke back with 140s.

Not Ready to Concede

But Palmer, the all-time leading money-winner, wasn't ready to concede a thing despite a 75-73—148 that left him nine strokes off the pace.

"If a guy gets going and gets a break or two, he could shoot a good score, even a 65," Palmer said. "Better putting could have put me in reasonably good shape."

And several others echoed his sentiments.

Jack Nicklaus, the Masters and British Open king, said he was playing better after tagging a 71 to his opening 75 for a 146.

And January, asked if he felt better with the edge the leaders had over Palmer and Nicklaus, responded:

What's a Safe Lead

"What is a fairly safe lead distance over those guys?"

Veteran Julius Boros, who had 141 at the midway point, said even par should win this tournament.

"I'd take 280 but I'm sure Sam probably would like a 276," he quipped.

Most of the players also concurred that the course, baked by hot and dry weather, was playing tougher than ever.

"The greens are getting crusty and hard and a lot of them are turning a little brown."

License Fee Hike Urged to Aid Cities

Municipality League Head Speaks to Legislative Group

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A sizable hike in automobile licensing fees was suggested Friday to help solve the growing gap between local government costs and income.

Making the proposal was Ed Johnson, executive director of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities.

Johnson told the interim Legislative Council local government committee that by projecting past trends in the costs of services demanded of local governments and their incomes from all sources, it is possible to predict that local governmental units will be short about $150 million in 1972 to meet the services they must supply residents of the state's cities and villages.

Johnson delivered a special report prepared by the League's committee on finance and taxation to the interim legislative group, which proved receptive to his suggestion that an increase in automobile licensing fees be levied with all increased funds reserved for the use of municipalities.

Study Approved

The local government committee voted to study the whole matter of the possible application of motor vehicle use taxes as a means of helping municipalities to solve their financial problems.

Included in the study will be alternative proposals for a possible "wheel tax" as used in some states, a tax levy on the value of an automobile and the possible inclusion of personal automobiles in personal property tax rolls.

It was the automobile license fee increase that drew most support from the committee members in their discussions.

The most recent increase in automobile license fees came during the latter part of the 1965 legislative session, when the annual cost for licensing automobiles was increased from $16 to $18.

Uses Example

Johnson pointed out to the committee that with 1.9 million automobiles being operated in the state, a $10 increase, not recommended but used only as an example, would net an additional $19 milion for local uses

He said that automobile operators in Wisconsin traditionaly have paid less for the privilege than their counterparts in many other states

He admitted that the funds received from such an automotive fee increase would not completely solve the revenue gap problems facing Wisconsin's municipalities, but said that a start must be made.

He suggested that any such measure could be applied either on a local option basis or to cover the entire state.

Demand Payment

The most feasible manner to collect the taxes, he said, would be to have the state motor vehicle department demand payment or proof of local payment of the taxes before issuing the local licenses and registration tags needed to operate motor vehicles.

He warned that if truck license fees are increased in the same measure, it should be done on a statewide basis rather than by local option. Trucking firms can move from city to city, he said, to avoid payment of such a tax if offered on a local option basis. On a state wide basis, such an evasion would not be possible.

Localities now get 20 per cent of the annual auto license fee and 11 per cent of the truck payments.

Costs Not Met

Johnson suggested that in the past state aids to localities for road use purposes have not met the costs to the local governments.

All state aids now paid to municipalities for local street and road purposes cover only about one quarter of the costs to local governments for upkeep and construction, he said.

"Obviously the other three fourths comes from sources other than highway user taxes," Johnson said. "This justifies a hard look at whether the automobile is covering the cost of its use."

Former Green Bay mayor Roman P. Denisson told the committee that any such additional tax levies if approved on a local option basis must be administered on a county-wide level

Costs are created by county residents who move outside of municipalities to avoid higher tax rates, he said, if they continue to benefit from the services offered by the city.

County-wide tax levies of this sort would help to more equitably distribute the costs of those increased demands, he suggested

14-Day Term For Youth Who Misled Police

A 17-year-old Appleton youth who allegedly gave false information and withheld information from Appleton detectives Friday was fined $35 and costs or 14 days in the Outagamie County jail.

Branch 2 Judge Gustave J. Keller imposed the sentence after Robert M. Dryer, 301 E. Murray Ave. had pleaded guilty to the charge Tuesday. Judge Keller ordered Dryer detained in the jail until sentencing Friday.

The charge against the youth said he gave false information and withheld information from three detectives after being warned that he could be charged for so doing. Dryer's actions delayed apprehension of a 15-year-old runaway girl, the charge said.

1,500 Working On Drive for Cystic Fibrosis

July Campaign In Fox Cities Part Of National Program

About 1,500 volunteers from the Fox Cities are spending much of their spare time this month by conducting a house-to-house campaign as part of a fund-raising drive for the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation.

The drive will be highlighted next Friday by bridge tournaments conducted by the American Contract Bridge League Charity Foundation Part of the proceeds, taken from entry fees, will be donated to the Cystic Fibrosis research organization Local contract bridge games will be in Green Bay

Another national organization, the Knights of Pythias, have joined the drive, already contributing $59,000 of their $75,000 goal. Local lodges are adding their support.

Mr and Mrs William C Krueger, 204½ N State St., Appleton, are co-chairmen of the Fox Cities campaign

Cystic Fibrosis is one of the most common chronic disorders of infants and children, with about one in every 1,000 babies born with it. Certain glands do not function properly, and mucus glands secrete an abnormally thick, gluey mucus.

Permanent Damage

The thick mucus clogs the bronchial tubes of the lungs and causes digestion problems by preventing the flow of digestive enzymes from the pancreas into the small intestine. As a result, the child may be a victim of bronchitis, pneumonia, permanent damage to the lungs or malnutrition.

Ten years ago, most afflicted children died before their 10th birthdays, but today, with early diagnosis and treatment, many of those affected can live beyond their teens.

The cause of cystic fibrosis is not known, but scientists suspect it is hereditary. Although the disease cannot be cured, it can be treated, but treatments are very expensive. Drugs, equipment and other items can easily cost a family $1,200 a year.

Local interest in this disease has been growing This is demonstrated by the fact that of the 33 research foundations in the country, two are in Wisconsin. The new diagnostic center of St. Elizabeth Hospital will be equipped to diagnose and evaluate cystic fibrosis cases.

Communism Remains Strong Force in E. Europe, Russia

Optimism About Change in Rule Too Strong, WSU-O Lecturer Says

BY DAVE NOWAK
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — While there have been many changes in East Central Europe and the Soviet Union in recent years, totalitarian regimes still prevail, a Indiana University professor said here Friday

Prof Vaclav Benes of the government department of IU warned against overoptimism in predicting the extent of change in East Central Europe

He said that "only a blind man would say there have been far reaching changes."

Much Independence

Benes, who spoke at a Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh workshop on "Soviet and East Central European Affairs," explained that the East Central European nations now enjoy a large degree of independence from the Soviet Union

While hhere has been some relaxing of the rigid controls imposed by the East Central European nations, Benes said that they will not go so far in relaxing those controls as to undermine the power of the communist parties in those nations

"If the ruling communist parties ever got into deep trouble, they would turn to the Soviet Union," Benes said. He also could not foresee a change to liberal democracies in East Central Europe.

Police Inconspicuous

Benes cited several of the changes which are evident in East Central Europe. He said the secret police are not as conspicuous; Westerners may travel to East Central Europe a limited number of East Central Europeans may travel to the West and there has been a new emphasis on cultural ties between the West and East Central Europe

He explained that there have also been some changes in the Soviet Union in the last 10 years Most important among these Benes explained, has been the adoption of the policy of peaceful co-existence with the West, a new emphasis on national development for all communist nations, the abandoning of the doctrine of the class struggle and the assuming of a less obvious role by the police

Benes explained that in the Soviet Union, totalitarianism has not been abandoned, but modernized.

Prof J L Radell of WSU-O noted that if a person were to study only the formal structure of the Soviet government, he would reach the conclusion that it is a liberal democracy.

He explained however, that by studying the actual workings of the government, one discovers the totalitarian nature of the regime

Radell noted the paradox in that Marx said Russia and China were not ready for a communist revolution, yet those are the only two countries where there have been spontaneous revolutions involving a large number of people. He explained that Marx believed that communist revolutions would take place only in industrialized nations where there were large working classes

$500,000 Student Aid Unused, Educators Told

Lack of Publicity on Available Funds Cited As Reason for Non-Use of Grants for Tuition

MADISON (AP) — More than half a million dollars in state cash set aside to help students at private colleges went unused in the last year because the idea just seemed too good to be true, officials said Friday.

The Legislature earmarked $800,000 for the program of tuition grants. Only $253,000 was used, the Commission for Higher Education Aids was told.

Thomas Moran, executive director of the commission, agreed with Marquette University's president, Rev. John Raynor, that insufficient publicity was one of the problems.

Moran said many students just could not believe that the legislature had appropriated public money to aid private education.

The commission's staff said 939 grants were made last year with Marquette students receiving 213 of them The average size of a grant for the 18 Wisconsin colleges whose students were eligible was $269.

The program provides funds to students attending private schools with an annual tuition of $400 or more. The size of a grant depends on a student's needs.

The largest grants went to students at Beloit College where they averaged $465.

The commission chose John Nash of Manitowoc as chairman John D. Rice, a Sparta broadcasting executive running on the Democratic ticket for Congress in the Third District, was elected vice chairman Father Raynor was named secretary

The commission gave Moran a $3,000 pay raise, increasing his salary to $14,500 a year.

Damage Exceeds $600 in Two-Car Waupaca Crash

WAUPACA — Damage in excess of $600 was caused in a two-car crash near the eastern city limits on State 54 at 4.30 p m. Thursday.

According to county police, Richard A Janssen, 35, 632 Fairview Ave., De Pere, who was traveling east, swerved into the westbound lane to pass a car waiting to make a left turn. His car collided with a west bound car driven by Gerald A. Pierce, 19, route 2, Nekoosa

The Janssen car skidded 93 feet before crossing into the west lane and colliding with the Pierce car, police said. Both drivers escaped injury

Fishing Gear Stolen From Parked Car

A fishing rod and reel were reported taken from a car belonging to Larry Brinkman, 315 E. Pacific St., while it was parked in the lot at the Allis Chalmers plant, 401 E. South Island St

Brinkman said the equipment, taken between 7 a m and 3 30 p.m Friday, was valued at $12.

Law Unit Seeks New Director

Enforcement Board Gets $121,000 In Federal Grants

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Richer by $121,000 in federal grant funds, the Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and Crime began a search Friday for an executive director

The new official would administer programs that may lead to statewide minimum standards of training for local law enforcement officers and study programs in police education

The commission headed by state Supreme Court Justice Bruce Beilfuss, directed a special search committee to rapidly seek and screen applicants for the executive director's position which will be paid between $12,500 and $15,000 a year.

The search committee is headed by University of Wisconsin law school professor Frank Remington.

Finance Staffing

The commission has received two federal grants to finance staffing and to set up two pilot programs in police education.

The programs, financed by $96,000 in federal funds, will compare results obtained in programs of short-term intensive training of police units on a local level and those gained from long-term individual study programs of key police department personnel at universities.

The commission also received $25,000 from the federal government to aid in its organization and recruitment of staff.

Beilfuss said, "We are hopeful that after a couple of years of the pilot programs we will have some idea of what curriculums are to be taught police, where they are to be taught, and what the sources of the personnel needed to teach them are"

State Might Participate

An additional key program of the commission, Beilfuss said, may be the study of Wisconsin participation in a federal program of minimum standards on a statewide basis of training of police recruits.

He said that the concept of "uniform standards for law enforcement officers is an entirely new concept in the state."

He also said that a problem area to be studied by the commission at the request of Gov Warren P. Knowles would be possible coordination of all law enforcement agencies in the state.

Knowles, in a memo to the commission read at the meeting, asked that the commission investigate what can be done to coordinate police activities on an area and statewide basis in reaction to the increased problem of traveling motorcycle gangs terrorizing small communities throughout the state.

Knowles' request was an outgrowth of a special conference called by the governor on the problem about two months ago

Beilfuss warned the commission that the federal government has no interest in financing police education and training programs on a long term basis "They feel that these programs are financial obligations of the states themselves," he said

If the training programs are to be continued beyond the pilot stage, he implied, the state must be prepared to pay the bills.

Bread, Cake, Rolls More Expensive

Price Hike Likely for Flour Products

Increased flour prices are being reflected in the Fox Cities by hikes in bread and other flour-product prices.

The increases, amounting to two to three cents for a loaf of bread and similar hikes for such items as coffee cake and sweet rolls, were effected by some stores this week, with most of the rest expected to follow suit Monday.

Earlier, it was anticipated that price increases would be expected only in large-volume sales, but several bakers at individual firms this morning reported that increased flour costs would be felt on all items.

One baker admitted that while his firm had not followed price increases earlier in the year, it was more or less forced to do so now

Increse of Penny

Wholesale bakery prices are expected to include increases of a penny to a penny and a half on most items in the speciality class, with these increases being forwarded to the retail level.

The increases are following a rise which was reported in Milwaukee a week ago. They in turn resulted from flour price increases of about $1 per hundredweight to the wholesaler. The flour price hikes are due to sortages of wheat, according to a General Mills spokesman.

Although flour-product prices statewide are expected to be increased, Wisconsin remains on the bottom of the list regarding retail prices of white bread in the U S., according to figures released by the U S. Department of Commerce

The price per pound of white bread in Milwukee, according to the latest-available figures, was 15.5 cents This compares to a price to the consumer of 26.5 cents in San Francisco and 28 7 cents in Los Angeles, where prices are the highest in the nation.

"Well in Line"

While the above figures apply only to prices of white bread, Wisconsin prices are "fairly well in line" with other states regarding prices of speciality bread products a Fox Cities bread wholesaler indicated

The wholesaler added that the Wisconsin baking industry has consistently been the lowest profit-making in the nation, and that present and anticipated increases are not out of line regarding national costs and profits.

The increases in bread prices come on the heels of an announcement a week ago that dairy products also would cost the consumer more

Most of the increases in dairy product prices amounted to one cent per unit, on the retail level.

Woman Hurt In Accident

Madison Couple Involved in Crash Near New London

NEW LONDON — A woman was injured as the result of a car-semi accident at 2:45 p.m. Friday at the overhead bridge on State 54.

Mrs. James R. Pleyte, 51, Madison, was taken to a doctor's office after she complained of back, neck and rib pains.

The accident was reported to city police by Pleyte, 51, driver of the car.

He told police he was approaching the bridge when the stop signal turned to red. A large truck driven by Harold Straw, Hancock, following the auto, was unable to stop and ran into the rear of the car, he said.

Traffic control signals have been installed at the bridge because of one-lane traffic due to repairs being made.

The entire rear end of the car was severely damaged.

Gov. Knowles Christens New Missile

BATH, Maine (AP) — Wisconsin Gov. Warren P. Knowles christened the nation's newest missile - bristling naval vessel Friday with the expressed hope that its weapons would never be fired.

"I hope this ship never experiences combat duty for which it was designed and that its ultimate potential will never be tested in battle," said Knowles.

Knowles made his comments in a statement issued before the scheduled launching late this afternoon of the USS Julius A. Furer, a guided missile escort ship named in memory of a Wisconsin - born naval scientist and admiral.

"It is a symbol of our nation's determination to be prepared to stem aggression and challenges to our freedom and, through that preparedness, prevent aggression," Knowles said in his prepared speech.

The Wisconsin governor flew here from Washington on a business trip to the east coast. He planned to remain tonight at an estate at Sebasco, Maine, before returning to Wisconsin Saturday to begin a week-long vacation.

Furer, born at Mosel in Sheboygan County, was graduated first in the Class of 1901 from the Naval Academy and designed the nation's first anti-submarine craft in World War I. In World War II he supervised U.S. naval research weapons experiments and engineering programs.

Yule Decorations Scorched During Little Chute Fire

LITTLE CHUTE — Fire of undetermined origin charred Christmas decorations, burned part of a side wall and a 10-foot hole in the roof of the village garage at the end of Wilson Street about 6:50 p.m. Friday.

Twenty two volunteer firemen brought the fire under control within five minutes.

The building was formerly used to store lumber. Due to the age and condition of the structure firemen remained at the scene for an hour as a precautionary measure.

The fire started near a basement door and worked up the side of the building to the roof, firemen said.

Expect Runway Decision Soon From FAA Officials

Winnebago Airport Authorities May Get Word Wednesday; County Still Favors N-S Strip

OSHKOSH — A decision is expected by the end of next week by the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) on the alignment of the new runway at the Winnebago County Airport.

County officials, the State Aviation Agency and FAA officials met Friday at Minneapolis to go over data to determine the best alignment — a direct north-south runway, as proposed by the county and state, or a northwest-southeast runway, as proposed by the FAA.

Winnebago County Corporation Counsel Gerald Engeldinger said FAA officials indicated a decision might be made as early as next Wednesday.

The county and state have proposed a new 6,700 foot runway parallel to and 540 feet west of the present north-south runway with the north end of the new runway 3,600 feet south of 20th Avenue.

The FAA indicated it preferred a northwest-southeast runway, starting at the same point, to carry the jet air traffic over less populated sections of Oshkosh.

FAA officials had requested county snd state officials to appear Friday to present documented reasons why this northwest-southeast alignment would not be better than the north-south alignment.

Engeldinger said aerial photographs and maps showing city development on the southwest side of Oshkosh were presented to indicate that the alignment proposed by the FAA would take the flight pattern over an area which is rapidly developing and that the same conditions would soon exist as now do over the north-south runway.

As for the noise factor, he said it was a case of either acclimating a new group of people or continuing the noise over the existing area.

In addition, Engeldinger said the FAA was told a northwest-southeast alignment would eliminate any future expansion of the runway if it was ever needed. Further expansion to the northwest could be blocked by 20th Avenue and by U.S. 45 and the Oshkosh Industrial Park on the southeast. On a direct north-south alignment, the runway could still be extended farther south.

If the FAA decides to require a northwest-southeast alignment the runway project will probably be delayed until 1967. All of the preliminary survey work has been completed for north-south expansion and most of the land options have been obtained. It would also then require the county to reapply for federal aid for the project. The county has already approved funds totaling more than $1-million for the work.

North Central Airlines plans to start jet service next spring and the present runways are not considered adequate for all-weather jet service. The east-west runway can be used by jets but not under all conditions.

In addition to Engeldinger, Steve Wittma, airport manager; Al Pinckley, a member of the County Aviation Committee, and Richard Thearn, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee, represented the county at the meeting.

To Your Good Health

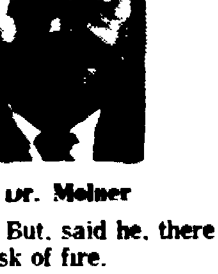
Use of White Gasoline Presents Fire Hazard

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

A bit ago I replied to a letter from a mother whose son evidently had gotten lead poisoning from using ethyl gasoline ("ethyl" meaning tetra-ethyl-lead) to wash parts of the motor he was repairing.

I suggested using white gasoline (without lead) or kerosene for the washing.

Came a letter from G.C.C., an executive of a large petroleum company, who questioned even the use of white gasoline. Yes, the white gasoline avoids the lead peril. But, said he, there is also the risk of fire.



Dr. Molner

Any flame, or even a static electricity spark, can explode gasoline fumes. Here is his suggestion:

"Kerosene would be suitable or preferably detergents or proper solvents approved by the Board of Fire Underwriters."

If a man whose business is selling petroleum products can urge "detergents or proper solvents" instead of gasoline for such use, in the interests of general safety, I'm sure I can admit that I was near-sighted in thinking only of the lead danger and not warning of the fire hazard.

Pay attention, all you youngsters (and adults) who enjoy tinkering with motors. Don't wash parts with gasoline. Use one of the safer solvents.

star dash

Dear Dr. Molner: Last year my boy friend was knocked out in a football game. He started getting headaches and the doctor told him to take aspirin.

The headaches stopped but now they have started up again and one was so bad he couldn't see 20 feet ahead. He gets weak and dizzy. They leave about 10 minutes later.

He won't tell his folks about this and made me promise not to reveal it. Can anything be done? — Miss L.L.

The sequence of headaches and dizzy spells after such an injury can mean that there has been a brain injury. Often it is not evident at first — you point out that in the beginning aspirin was adequate — but the damage becomes manifest with time.

Your boy friend should tell his parents, and he should be examined by a neurologist who may need to make special tests (electro-encephalogram or "brain wave" recordings, skull X-rays, etc.) after which medication for effective relief can be accurately prescribed.

Persuade your young man to tell his parents about his condition. And tell him, for me, that he has a thoughtful and intelligent girl friend who takes his welfare to heart.

star dash

Dear Dr. Molner: Can you give me some information on hypospadias? My doctor tells me nothing except that my baby son should be taken to the hospital for this. — Mrs. J.K.P.

I don't know why you should have difficulty in learning about the condition from your doctor unless — and this is my guess — he felt embarrassed or thought you might be. Yet there is no good reason for embarrassment.

Hypospadias means that the urethra (the tube from the bladder, for the discharge of urine) does not run, as it should, through the center of the penis. Instead the outlet is on the underside of the organ.

It can be corrected surgically, and you should not be alarmed. A urologist can advise you, indeed, whether in this specific case such correction is needed. From what your doctor told you, I would assume that such correction is advisable.

Emphysema can be controlled. To learn how to live with this serious lung disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Post-Crescent, requesting a copy of the booklet, "How to Control Emphysema," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Cyclist Hurt After Chase With Police

MENASHA — an 18-year-old Appleton cyclist received minor injuries when his motorcycle slammed into a curb while leading police on a chase through Menasha Friday evening.

Dennis E. Griesbach, 2519 Erb St., was taken to the police station where he was given first aid and advised to see a physician.

A squad car started the chase after Griesbach raced out of an alleyway onto Milwaukee Street around 10 p.m. The police car pursued the motorcycle to Third Street and then west to Tayco Street and North to Grandview Avenue.

Griesbach attempted to turn east onto Grandview when his vehicle hit the curb on the north side of the street.

Oshkosh Youth Admits Forging Checks Worth $1,012 in Fox Cities

OSHKOSH — A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Barry Kwiatkowski, 18, 409 Powers St., Oshkosh, who admitted Friday, writing 10 forged checks totaling $1,012, including three in Appleton.

Winnebago County Judge James V. Sitter ordered Kwiatkowski held for sentencing Aug. 4.

The three Appleton checks were for $44.83 at Treasure Island, $35.50 at Super Value and $42 at Prange's. The seven Oshkosh checks included one for $695, which Kwiatkowski used to purchase an automobile. All of the checks were written in late April.

A Complaint Was Filed Friday against the union picketing Earl Litho-Printing on Midway Road in the Town of Menasha. The attorney for the firm told Winnebago County police the pickets were sitting in chairs, blocking the entrance to the plant from Earl Street. The picketers, from Local 88-L of the Lithographers and Photoengravers Union, were told that by law they must keep moving. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

Friends, at least in some respects. Studies by social psychologist Paul Secord found that when people see something in themselves that they don't like, they are more likely to attribute the same qualities to their friends than to strangers or those whom they dislike. Apparently, we want to believe that our friends are like ourselves in their faults as well as in their virtues.

Nothing gives us as much emotional satisfaction as food does!

Right — Wrong —

Wrong. In one experiment, third-grade children were allowed to eat as many one-ounce cups of ice cream as they wished. Some consumed as many as 39 in 45 minutes. On another day, crayons were passed out as gifts, and the children ate less ice cream. Eating became a kind of contest to see who could consume the most, and gifts satisfied this need for recognition in other ways.

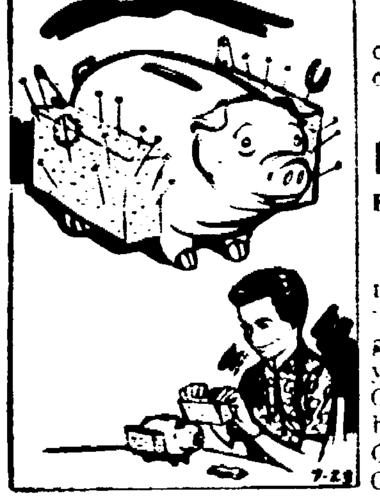
Use Piggy Bank for Pin Cushion or Saving

BY CAPPY DICK

Today's fun-project for young readers is a piggy bank that does double duty as a pin cushion and a penny-saver.

It may be a small piggy bank or a large one. From fine-grained synthetic sponge cut two oblong pieces to be attached to the sides of the bank with china mending glue.



It is handy idea

When the glue has dried, the project has been completed and the double-duty piggy is ready for use as a pin-holder as well as a money-holder.

As shown in the adjoining illustration, you need only stick pins — straight pins, safety pins or novelty pins — into the sponge "saddle bags" and they will remain there, ready for you to pluck out later whenever a pin is needed.

The pin cushion does not interfere with the ordinary use of the bank as a money holder. You may continue to slip coins into it through the slot in the pig's back. If the bank must be turned upside down and shaken to remove the contents, it is a good idea to shake it above your dresser top so any pins that fall may easily be retrieved and returned to the sponges.

Use sponge of a color that contrasts nicely with the color of the piggy.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words often misused: Avoid the use of "overly" for "over." Say, "over-anxious" and "over-eager," and not "overly anxious" or "overly eager."

Often mispronounced: Obsequies. Accent first syllable, not the second.

Often misspelled: Eclectic; observe the first "ec." Ecclesiastic; "ecc."

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: patent (adjective): open to public perusal; available; obvious. "There are certain patent reasons for his making those remarks."

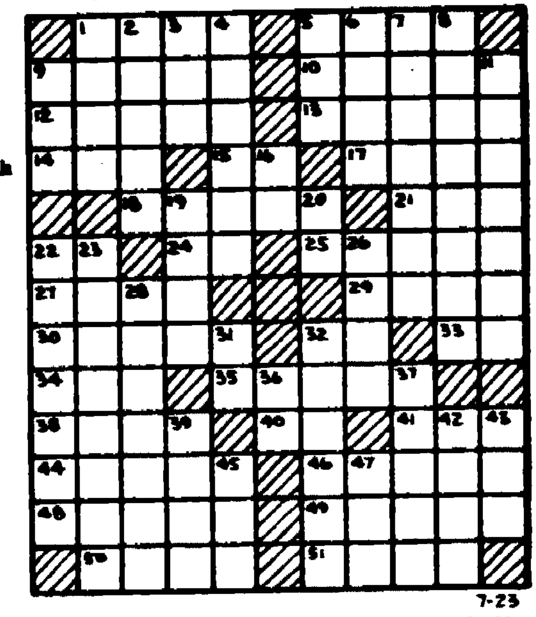
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Breakfast, Rides, Stunts

New London Club Schedules 'Fly-In'

NEW LONDON — The seventh annual fly-in and breakfast is scheduled Aug. 7 at the New London Airport.

Sponsored by New London Aviation, Inc., the event has in past years attracted huge crowds for the pancake breakfast and free air show.

Association members will begin serving breakfast at 7:30 a.m. and continue until early afternoon.

A featured attraction the past two years has been sky diving. This year the Para-Naut sky diving team, Appleton, will perform, Lew Weed general chairman said.

Airplanes from throughout the state are expected at the gathering. There will be a display of homebuilt, antique and modern aircraft.

Music will be provided during the day. Master of ceramonies will again be Melvin Jungerberg.

Free Rides

Persons joining the aviation club the day of the fly-in will receive a free airplane ride.

Last year two small homemade racing craft thrilled the crowd with various air acrobatics.

Other chairmen for the event are Brian Zietlow, sound equipment; Al Schafer and Zietlow, advertising; Weed, refreshments and entertainment; James Cristy, memberships and Guerin, Mrs. Paul Kamke, Mrs. Al Schafer and Mrs. L. K. Thomas, food stand.

Proceeds from the fly-in will be used to improve the air strip.

Rainout date for the event is Aug. 14.

Woman Hurt In Accident

Madison Couple Involved in Crash Near New London

NEW LONDON — A woman was injured as the result of a car-semi accident at 2:45 p.m. Friday at the overhead bridge on State 54.

Mrs. James R. Pleyte, 51, Madison, was taken to a doctor's office after she complained of back, neck and rib pains.

The accident was reported to city police by Pleyte, 51, driver of the car.

He told police he was approaching the bridge when the stop signal turned to red. A large truck driven by Harold Straw, Hancock, following the auto, was unable to stop and ran into the rear of the car, he said.

Traffic control signals have been installed at the bridge because of one-lane traffic due to repairs being made.

The entire rear end of the car was severely damaged.

Electrician From Manawa Dies at 69

MANAWA — Clarence F. Bork, 69, died at the home of a neighbor while doing a small wiring job late Friday morning.

Bork was born in 1896 in Weyauwega. Married in 1921, he lived in Greenville for nearly eight years, where he was an electrician. They moved to Manawa in 1929 and operated a small grocery store until 1957, when he became an electrician again.

Survivors include his widow, one daughter, three sisters, four brothers, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 2:30 p.m., Monday at the Methodist Church. Burial will be in Royalton Cemetery.

Friends may call at Booth Funeral Home after 2 p.m. Sunday and at the church from 1:30 to 2:30, Monday.

I-S Voters To Consider School Shop

IOLA — Construction of a new $50,000 high school shop will be discussed at the Iola-Scandinavia School District meeting at the high school at 8 p.m. Monday.

The proposed shop would be located behind the gymnasium. Voters will be asked to approve the plan.

The expired terms of board members A. O. Lee, Scandinavia, and John Gronier, Iola, will be filled.

The new budget also will be presented for approval.

Waupaca County Highway Dump Truck Recovered

WAUPACA — A Waupaca County Highway Department truck, stolen earlier this week under an overhead near New London, was recovered Friday. The truck was found parked on State 54, southwest of Shiocton, along the Wolf River.

The large yellow sump truck, which had "Waupaca County" and the number 165 painted on the side, was being used by county workmen who are repairing the roadbed of the overhead on State 54 on the northern edge of New London. The truck had been parked under the overhead, Tuesday, and the theft was reported to the sheriff's office Thursday.

$500,000 Student Aid Unused, Educators Told

Lack of Publicity on Available Funds Cited As Reason for Non-Use of Grants for Tuition

MADISON (AP) — More than half a million dollars in state cash set aside to help students at private colleges went unused in the last year because the idea just seemed too good to be true, officials said Friday.

The Legislature earmarked $500,000 for the program of tuition grants. Only $253,000 was used, the Commission for Higher Education Aids was told.

Thomas Moran, executive director of the commission, agreed with Marquette University's president, Rev. John Raynor, that insufficient publicity was one of the problems.

Moran said many students just could not believe that the legislature had appropriated public money to aid private education.

Average of $261

The commission's staff said 969 grants were made last year with Marquette students receiving 213 of them. The average size of a grant for the 18 Wisconsin colleges whose students were eligible was $269.

The program provides funds to students attending private schools with an annual tuition of $400 or more. The size of a grant depends on a student's needs.

The largest grants went to students at Beloit College where they averaged $465.

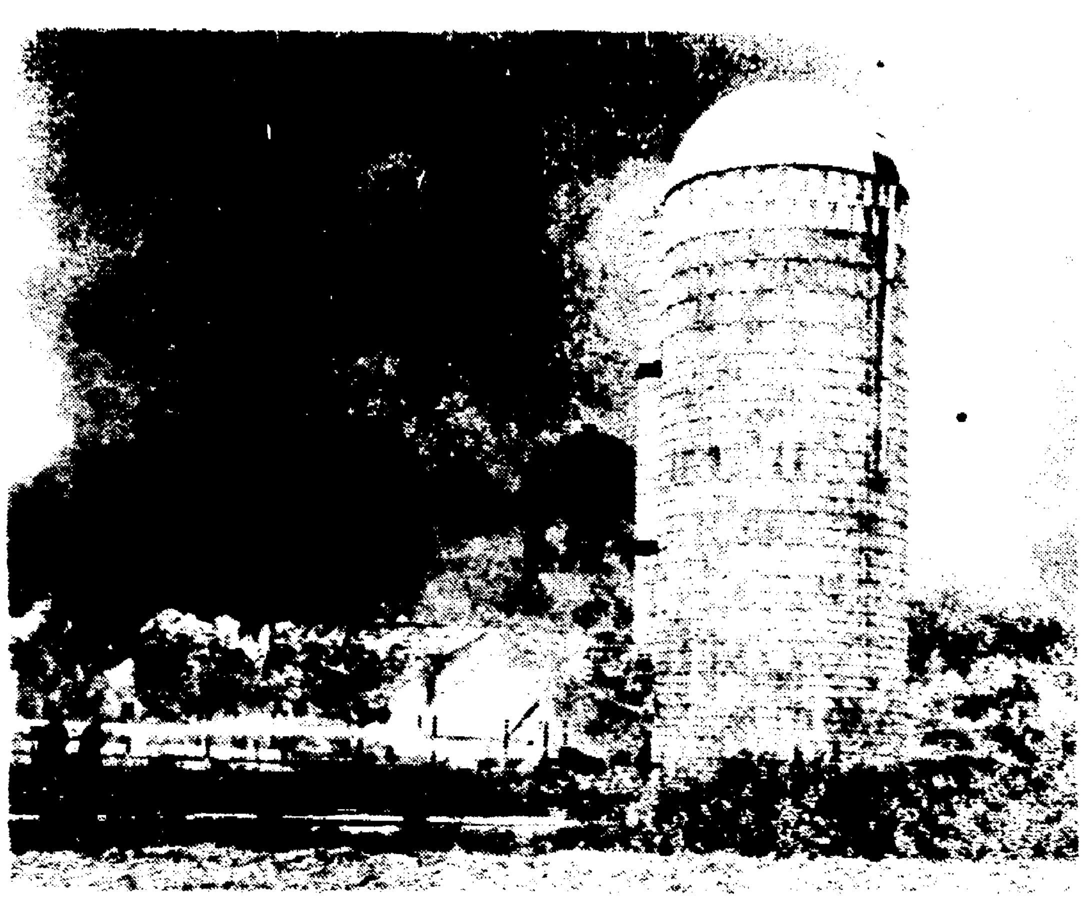
The commission chose John Nash of Manitowoc as chairman. John D. Rice, a Sparta broadcasting executive running on the Democratic ticket for Congress in the Third District, was elected vice chairman. Father Raynor was named secretary.

The commission gave Moran a $3,000 pay raise, increasing his salary to $14,500 a year.

Marion Man Forfeits $83 After Accident

WAUPACA — John H. Kerneen, 20, route 2, Marion forfeited $83 bond Thursday to Municipal Justice George Whalen on a charge of inattentive driving.

Kerneen was arrested by county police June 27 following a one car accident on State 110 south of Marion. Kerneen told police he fell asleep. His car ran off the road and struck a pile of rocks.



Smoke Tumbles From the Joseph Smet barn Friday as firemen work to keep the blaze from spreading to nearby buildings. The barn, located a mile west of Sherwood on State 114, was leveled. Damage estimates are incomplete. ([illegible] Photo)

Communism Remains Strong Force in E. Europe, Russia

Optimism About Change in Rule Too Strong, WSU-O Lecturer Says

BY DAVE NOWAK
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — While there have been many changes in East Central Europe and the Soviet Union in recent years, totalitarian regimes still prevail, a Indiana University professor said here Friday.

Prof. Vaclav Benes of the government department of IU warned against overoptimism in predicting the extent of change in East Central Europe.

He said that "only a blind man would say there have been far reaching changes."

Much Independence

Benes, who spoke at a Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh workshop on "Soviet and East Central European Affairs," explained that the East Central European nations now enjoy a large degree of independence from the Soviet Union.

While hhere has been some relaxing of the rigid controls imposed by the East Central European nations, Benes said that they will not go so far in relaxing those controls as to undermine the power of the communist parties in those nations.

"If the ruling communist parties ever got into deep trouble, they would turn to the Soviet Union," Benes said. He also could not foresee a change to liberal democracies in East Central Europe.

Police Inconspicuous

Benes cited several of the changes which are evident in East Central Europe. He said the secret police are not as conspicuous: Westerners may travel to East Central Europe, a limited number of East Central Europeans may travel to the West, and there has been a new emphasis on cultural ties between the West and East Central Europe.

He explained that there have also been some changes in the Soviet Union in the last 10 years. Most important among these, Benes explained, has been the adoption of the policy of peaceful co-existence with the West, a new emphasis on national development for all communist nations, the abandoning of the doctrine of the class struggle, and the assuming of a less obvious role by the police.

Benes explained that "in the Soviet Union, totalitarianism has not been abandoned, but modernized."

Prof. J. L. Radell of WSU-O noted that if a person were to study only the formal structure of the Soviet government, he would reach the conclusion that it is a liberal democracy.

He explained however, that by studying the actual workings of the government, one discovers the totalitarian nature of the [illegible].

[illegible] noted the paradox in that Marx said Russia and China were not ready for a communist revolution, yet those are the only two countries where there have been spontaneous revolutions involving a large number of people. He explained that Marx believed that communist revolutions would take place only in industrialized nations where there were large working classes.

$17 Tax Rate Represents Hike Of $4 Per $1,000 of Valuation

MARION — The electorate of Joint School District No. 3 will be asked to approve a $607,407 budget at the annual meeting at the high school gym at 8 p.m. Monday. The figure represents a $56,202 increase over the previous budget of $551,205.

The proposed budget will require a tax levy of $271,272, an increase of [illegible] over the preceding year. This would require a tax rate increase of $4 per $1,000 equalized valuation. The proposed rate is $17.

Revenues anticipated from sources other than direct taxes for the year total $336,135 which compares with $320,518 realized during the previous year.

Of this amount, $265,518 is expected in state aid, compared with $232,761 for the 1965-66 school term. Other major outside revenue sources include aid for special education, $5,000, and the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, Title II, $2,498. All other revenues are on a par with the preceding budget.

Instruction represents the largest increase of any expenditure category with a jump of $33,108 for a total of $346,247. Accounting for the increase is the added staff for the new elementary school.

General control costs are estimated at $19,759, an increase of $224. Transportation shows an increase of [illegible] for a total of $52,186. The largest single item in the section is the purchase of two buses for $12,728.

Supplies are budgeted at $16,575, which represents an increase of $1,165, due largely to the new school.

Operational costs represent the second largest increase with a total request of $47,823, an increase of $6,406 over the previous budget.

The maintenance figure shows a decrease of $5,290 for a total of $11,400. Fixed charges also show a decrease with an appropriation of $11,400 compared with $16,690 during the previous year.

Community Service

Community service, which includes the safety patrol, summer recreation, adult education and supplies and books, has been estimated at $250 compared with $52 during the previous budget.

Capital outlays show an increase of $33,753, calling for $51,000 in the proposed budget compared with $17,247 during the previous year. The increase is represented primarily in the installation of a new track at [illegible]; school lunch equipment at [illegible]; operation equipment, $900; equipment and furniture, [illegible], and a $5,000 contingent fund.

License Fee Hike Urged to Aid Cities

Municipality League Head Asks For Help in Financing Costs Of Local Government Units

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A sizable hike in automobile licensing fees was suggested Friday to help solve the growing gap between local government costs and income.

Making the proposal was Ed Johnson, executive director of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities.

Johnson told the interim Legislative Council local government committee that by projecting past trends in the costs of services demanded of local governments and their incomes from all sources, it is possible to predict that local governmental units will be short about [illegible] million in [illegible] to meet the services they must supply residents of the state's cities and villages.

Johnson delivered a special report prepared by the League's committee on finance and taxation to the interim legislative group, which proved receptive to his suggestion that an increase in automobile licensing fees be levied with all increased funds reserved for the use of municipalities.

Study Approved

The local government committee voted to study the whole matter of the possible application of motor vehicle use taxes as a means of helping municipalities to solve their financial problems.

Included in the study will be alternative proposals for a possible "wheel tax" as used in some states, a tax levy on the value of an automobile and the possible inclusion of personal automobiles in personal property tax rolls.

It was the automobile license fee increase that drew most support from the committee members in their discussions.

The most recent increase in automobile license fees came during the latter part of the 1965 legislative session, when the annual cost for licensing automobiles was increased from $16 to $18.

Uses Example

Johnson pointed out to the committee that with 1.9 million automobiles being operated in the state, a $10 increase, not recommended but used only as an example, would net an additional $19 million for local uses.

He said that automobile operators in Wisconsin traditionaly have paid less for the privilege than their counterparts in many other states.

He admitted that the funds received from such an automotive fee increase would not completely solve the revenue gap problems facing Wisconsin's municipalities, but said that a start must be made.

He suggested that any such measure could be applied either on a local option basis or to cover the entire state.

Demand Payment

The most feasible manner to collect the taxes, he said, would be to have the state motor vehicle department demand payment or proof of local payment of the taxes before issuing the local licenses and registration tags needed to operate motor vehicles.

He warned that if truck license fees are increased in the same measure, it should be done on a statewide basis rather than by local option. Trucking firms can move from city to city, he said, to avoid payment of such a tax if offered on a local option basis. On a statewide basis, such an evasion would not be possible.

Localities now get 20 per cent of the annual auto license fee and 11 per cent of the truck payments.

Costs Not Met

Johnson suggested that in the past state aids to localities for road use purposes have not met the costs to the local government.

[illegible] municipalities for local street and road purposes cover only about one quarter of the costs to local governments for upkeep and construction, he said.

"However, the other three quarters comes from sources other than highway user taxes," Johnson said. "This justifies a hard look at whether the automobile is covering the cost of its use."

Former Green Bay mayor Roman P. Denissen told the committee that any such additional tax levy, if approved on a local option basis must be administered on a county-wide level.

Costs are created by county residents who move outside of municipalities to avoid higher tax rates, he said, if they continue to benefit from the services offered by the city.

County-wide tax levies of this sort would help to more equitably distribute the costs of those increased demands, he suggested.

Nurse to Head Aid Program For Red Cross

Mrs. Beggs in Charge Of Bloodmobile Visit To Clintonville Aug. 4

CLINTONVILLE — Mrs. Keith Beggs, practical nurse at Clintonville Community Hospital, has been appointed chairman of the local chapter of the American Red Cross by Louis Krueckenberg, chairman.

Need is Great

"We are not even going to talk about a quota because the need is so great," Mrs. Beggs said. "Increased blood donations are needed to fulfill the request made by the Department of Defense to the American Red Cross for blood components for U. S. servicemen fighting in South Viet Nam."

"College students around the country have set an outstanding example for us to follow," she added, "and two of our Clintonville students have joined the group of volunteers for the bloodmobile's stop here on Aug. 4."

1,500 Working On Drive for Cystic Fibrosis

July Campaign In Fox Cities Part Of National Program

About 1,500 volunteers from the Fox Cities are spending much of their spare time this month by conducting a house-to-house campaign as part of a fund-raising drive for the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation.

The drive will be highlighted next Friday by bridge tournaments conducted by the American Contract Bridge League Charity Foundation. Part of the proceeds, taken from entry fees, will be donated to the Cistic Fibrosis research organization. Local contract bridge games will be in Green Bay.

Another national organization, the Knights of Pythias, have joined the drive, already contributing $50,000 of their $75,000 goal. Local lodges are adding their support.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Krueger, 204½ N. State St., Appleton, are co-chairmen of the Fox Cities campaign.

Cystic Fibrosis is one of the most common chronic disorders of infants and children, with about one in every 1,000 babies born with it. Certain glands do not function properly, and mucus glands secrete an abnormally thick, gluey mucus.

Permanent Damage

The thick mucus clogs the bronchial tubes of the lungs and causes digestion problems by preventing the flow of digestive enzymes from the pancreas into the small intestine. As a result, the child may be a victim of bronchitis, pneumonia, permanent damage to the lungs or malnutrition.

Ten years ago, most afflicted children died before their 10th birthdays, but today, with early diagnosis and treatment, many of those affected can live beyond their teens.

The cause of cystic fibrosis is not known, but scientists suspect it is hereditary. Although the disease cannot be cured, it can be treated, but treatments are very expensive. Drugs, equipment and other items can easily cost a family $1,200 a year.

Kept From Spreading

Blaze Levels Barn West of Sherwood

SHERWOOD — Fire leveled the barn on the Joseph Smet farm, a mile west of here on State 114, about 3:30 p.m. Friday.

The Smets were threshing oats and blowing straw into the barn when one of their children noticed smoke coming from the barn. Smet later theorized a stone went through the machine and friction and heat ignited the straw.

Both Town of Harrison volunteer fire departments were at the scene and prevented the blaze from spreading to the home and nearby buildings.

Filled With Hay

Machinery and animals were taken from the barn, which was filled with hay. No damage estimates were available but the loss was partially covered by insurance.

The barn was damaged and buildings on the farm destroyed last July when a tornado struck the Sherwood area.

In July, 1964, the Smets lost their entire hay crop when it heated in the barn.
